SELECTMEN NOTEBOOK

Getting litigious over spite fence

By Lisa Kennedy-Cox
News Correspondent
Lisa@YourTownCrier.com

WILMINGTON - While last Monday's Board of Selectmen meeting was sparsely attended, it was still fraught with the drama that seems to be the norm these days. George Lingenfelter and Kevin MacDonald both had matters come up in comments, relative to the new high school and a long-hated spite fence.

The first agenda item was a letter written by Town Manager Jeffrey Hull with harsh words for residents he felt thwarted the construction of the new Wilmington High School in a more expedient way. Hull maintains that "a few individuals were able to delay this project by 7 months."

Those individuals were Lingenfelter and MacDonald, who headed up the so-called Ten Resident Group that appealed to the EPA to stop construction of the school and the artificial turf field.

"For the graduating class of 2015, the delay represents a lost opportunity to experience the benefits of completing their entire final year of high school in an environment that provides flexible learning spaces, fully incorporates technology into the fabric of the facility, provides a gymnasium with elevated track and a state of the art auditorium."

Hull added that the "unnecessary project delay has led to an increase of nearly $1.5 million in project costs," referencing an email from Bill Cuniff, a civil engineer and representative for the project management firm Joslin Lesser. The email provided a breakdown of additional construction costs and summarized that the project was to have been bid in June 2012, but that the delay pushed out trade bid opening until January of 2013, effectively a 7 month delay.

Selectman Michael McCoy told the Board, "There's a lot we could have done with $1.5 million." At that point, Lingenfelter asked if he could speak. Chairman Judith O'Connell told him, "No," and told him he would have to wait for the Public Comments part of the agenda.

When Lingenfelter was finally allowed to have his say, he expressed his frustration with the Boards' edict, saying, "There is a huge problem," and that the Town is, "throwing money away," adding, "A lot of structuring changes happened during that time. It's not a bunch of disgruntled residents. I plan to follow up."

Lingenfelter also feels the Town should purchase the Olin Chemical site, saying, "The town should con-

KINDER MORGAN

Pipeline route revised

By Lisa Kennedy-Cox
Town Crier Correspondent
Lisa@YourTownCrier.com

WILMINGTON - Town Engineer Paul Alunni notified the Board of Selectmen this week that Tennessee Gas Pipeline (TGP) company, a Kinder Morgan subsidiary, has issued a revised route for the high-pressure natural gas transmission line slated to run through Wilmington and neighboring towns.

Alunni informed the Board that TGP met with Town representatives on Feb. 23, 2015 to review the current status of the Northeast Energy Direct (NED) gas pipeline project, and that a revised route had been approved by TGP for the so-called 'Lynnfield Lateral' through Wilmington.

Prior to the proposed change, residents and the Pipeline Awareness Committee had voiced their concerns at an Open House provided by Kinder Morgan with the purpose of addressing questions and concerns. The major concern was the potential for the pipeline to disturb two of the Town's primary drinking water well fields; the Brown's Crossing and the Salem St. GP well field.

In addition to the letter, TGP representatives acknowledged awareness that the revised pipeline route would traverse a parcel owned and operated by Benevento, an aggregate based material supply company and quarry. Town representatives had raised concerns regarding the proximity of the revised route to blasting operations at the quarry. TGP indicated that the pipeline would be designed to "co-exist with the expected operations at the site." The Town responded with a request that TGP provide the Town with case studies of similar applications.

In a recent email regarding these changes, Wilmington Pipeline Awareness Committee Director Frank Gullotto informed residents that, "It's important to note that all documents including pipeline route changes are basically drafts at this point and can change at any time. So while KM may be looking at utility corridors today, they could quickly change course at any time."

George Lingenfelter brought up the Kinder Morgan Pipeline Project during his comments.

"I think we're all on the same side [with the Kinder Morgan issue]," and went on to say, "Keep in mind, they can do whatever they want. Don't believe anything that they tell you."

SCHOOL NEWS

Prospective schedule change for Middle School

Sweeping changes could alter entire structure of middle school day

By BRENDAN FOLEY
News Correspondent
Brendan@YourTownCrier.com

WILMINGTON- Students at the Wilmington Middle School may find themselves looking at a completely overhauled schedule if proposed changes are approved. Interim Principal Ralph Olsen and Assistant Principal Terry Sheehan unveiled their plans for a new schedule to parents, with changes ranging from new lunch times to an entirely new class structure.

"The idea is to improve learning for all students," Olsen said of the prospective changes.

Olsen and Sheehan's schedule makes four critical changes. It utilizes a rotating schedule, restores eighth grade teams, provides adequate learning opportunities to improve math, writing and reading skills, and places new emphasis on intervention and enrichment.

The changes would place the school on a six-day cycle with seven-period blocks. With the school expecting a small eighth grade next year, with 265 expected students, it is believed that this revised schedule will facilitate both better learning in the classroom, as well as enable teachers to work with students during off-time, making sure that the education is continuing even after classes stop.

Per the new schedule, all sixth grade students will receive an additional reading and writing enrichment course for three days out of the cycle. Some sixth graders will also receive an additional math enrichment course, while those who do not receive the extra math class time will be placed in an introductory world language class.

Yentile Farm Committee announces

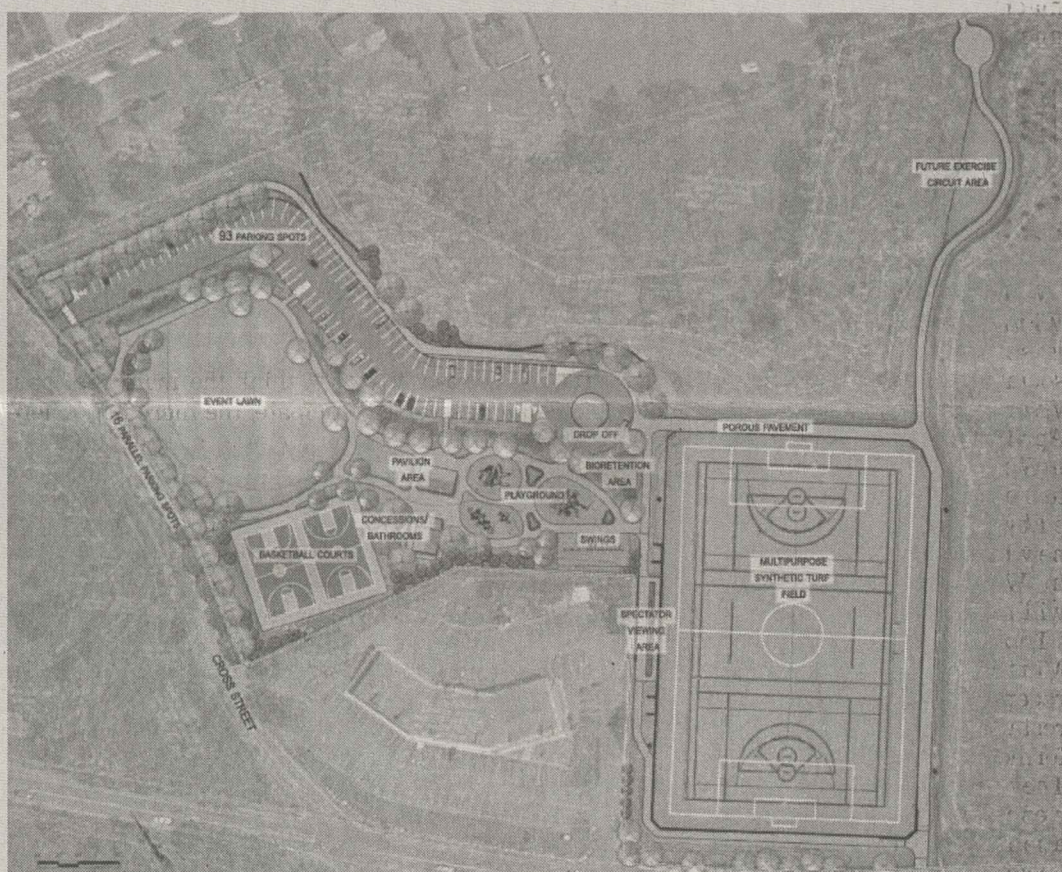

Recreational Facility Design Presentation

WILMINGTON - The Yentile Farm Development Committee is inviting residents to a presentation of the 9 Cross Street Recreational Facility design on April 15, 2015 at 7PM at the Wilmington Middle School Auditorium. The presentation is being made in advance of the upcoming Annual Town Meeting, at which approval for funding for the construction is being considered.

The project has been designed to provide a welcoming and engaging space for all ages, that offers a wide variety of active and passive uses, and serves as a true destination among Wilmington's parks.

The presentation will review the design at the schematic phase, including detailed visuals that portray the types of activities, structures, plantings, and amenities the space will have. The project is planned to include a multi-purpose artificial turf field, a signature playground, basketball/street hockey courts, walking paths, an event green, picnic pavilion, concessions building, and amenities.

The presentation will be led by the project engineers. The engineering team is led by Green International, and includes Stantec, an international sports facility expert, and GEI, the town's geotechnical engineers. They are charged with bringing the concept design developed in 2014 through to construction bid documents and permitting.

The project design has emerged through a very active public process which included three public workshops attended by over 100 residents, two surveys with a combined 1,950 responses, and nine committee meetings.

The 9 Cross Street property is 20.3 acres in overall size, located along Cross Street between Routes 129 and 38. The site contains wetlands resource areas to the north and east of the site, which limit the extent of the development area on-site.

The Town of Wilmington formed the Yentile Farm Development Committee to help guide the development of the project. The Committee includes a broad representation of the Town including Selectwoman Judy O'Connell serving as Chairperson, representatives from the community, various youth athletic leagues, community organizations, and representatives from various departments within Town.

For questions about the Committee and its efforts please contact the Town Manager's Office at 978-658-3311 or via email at ydc@wilmingtonma.gov.

'Silent Cal' had Wilmington ancestors

BY LARZ F. NEILSON

Wilmington has some Presidential ancestry in its history.

President Calvin Coolidge, a conservative Yankee, served as president from 1923 to 1928, during the "Roaring Twenties." He was best known for his taciturn manner.

Coolidge was born in Plymouth, Vermont in 1872, the fourth Calvin Coolidge to be born there. But he lived most of his life in Massachusetts, and held several political offices in the Bay State. His claim to fame as Massachusetts governor came in 1919 when he broke the Boston police strike. The following year, he was nominated for vice president.

Then in 1923, President Warren Harding died. Vice President Calvin Coolidge was visiting his family in Vermont at the time. In the wee hours of the morning, his father, a judge, swore him in as President of the United States.

Calvin was famously known as "Silent Cal." He was both the most negative and remote of Presidents, and yet, the most accessible. He once explained to Bernard Baruch why he often sat silently through interviews. "Well, Baruch, many times I say only 'yes' or 'no' to people. Even that is too much. It winds them up for twenty minutes more." Baruch was a prominent financier, statesman and political advisor in the early 20th Century.

A woman who was seated next to Coolidge at a dinner said to him, "I bet one of my friends I could get you to say three words."

"You lose."

He was enormously popular. The one time he ran for President, he was elected with 54 percent of the vote.

His link to Wilmington was through his great-great-grandmother, Sarah Thompson Coolidge, the daughter of William Thompson, Jr., a native of Wilmington. He was of the Thompson family that lived in the house now numbered 2 Main St., at the Wilmington - Tewksbury line.

William Thompson, Jr. married Dorcas Eaton in Reading on Feb. 25, 1774. Some time after that, they moved to Chester, Vt., along with his father, who was then a widower. His wife, Abigail Jones, died in Wilmington in 1757. She was the daughter of Ebenezer & Elizabeth Jones.

William Thompson, Sr. was the son of James Thompson, who settled in Wilmington. The Thompson family's original farm encompassed much of the land near Silver Lake, including a mill site where Lubbers Brook crosses under Glen Road. Glen Road was the only road through the area at the time. Main Street south of Silver Lake did not exist.

PLANNING - MORE THAN A WILL

If you have assets, you have the right to decide where they will go after your demise. That's why there are wills and beneficiary designations for IRAs and investment accounts.

But there's more you can do to help your family cope. There should be health care directives to ease their decisions, and lists of passwords so they can access online accounts. If you've made your own burial arrangements, document them. Military discharge papers may be helpful, too.

A durable power of attorney allows someone you trust to take care of your finances, even if you become incapacitated. A durable health care power of attorney covers all health care decisions; a living will usually covers only deathbed decisions.

Not-so-little things: medical history for future family; old tax documents; a list of direct-debits from your accounts; lists of what's where in your home and how to make things work.

Relay For Life Free Cancer Survivor Dinner April 27

WILMINGTON - Wilmington's Relay For Life is sponsoring a free dinner social event for cancer survivors and caregivers on April 27th at Villa Nova Hall in Wilmington from 6:30 pm to 8 pm. Food will be provided by Trezzetto, the exciting new Italian fusion restaurant in Wilmington. Bobby G will provide entertainment.

Trezzetto owners James Martin and Rick Lowe recently opened their new restaurant at 2 Lowell St (the former Focaccia location). They bring a wealth of experience to the Trezzetto operation, and they have already become very active in community events. A repeat supporter of Relay for Life himself, Bobby Gauvreau is a seasoned entertainer with an amazing 3-octave range. His talents have taken him from local appearances in the Boston area to across the country including Las Vegas.

This is the third year Wilmington's Relay is holding this event. It doesn't matter if people are still in treatment or are years past that special 5-year survival mark, they are all welcomed.

Donna Laquidara is a 12-year cancer survivor who attended the social for the first time last year. Speaking of her experience, she says, "It is one thing to be told there is a 'number' of survivors, but to see a large group of survivors in one spot, I believe, is a more powerful statement."

She will attend again this year and bring two family members who also survived cancer.

"I think the more that participate, the more hope there is for others facing the battle," Laquidara explains. "It allows you to realize there are others that have walked in your shoes; you were not the only one to hear you have cancer."

While enjoying good food and entertainment, attendees can also learn more about Relay for Life and the free services available from the American Cancer Society to support patients and their families. Anyone interested in attending or just learning more, please contact Julie Raueo at 781-314-2668 or at Julie.Raueo@cancer.org

Wilmington Candidates Night Tuesday, April 7

Opportunity for residents to meet candidates, attend debate

WILMINGTON - Residents are invited to attend the annual Candidates Night to learn more about their neighbors running for elected office on the Board of Selectmen and the School Committee. This year one seat on the Board of Selectmen is up for election, currently held by incumbent candidates Mike Champoux. Kevin MacDonald will challenge Champoux this year.

Newcomers to the political scene Leigh Martinson and Robert Peterson, Jr. are competing for the Town Moderator seat.

Incumbents MJ Byrnes and Manny Mulas are up for re-election this year to the seven-member School Committee. No challengers came forward this year.

Candidates night is held at the WCTV studios located at 10 Waltham Street from 6 to 8:00 p.m. on Tuesday, April 7. From 6 to 6:30PM enjoy the Meet the Candidates Reception. The conversation with the School Committee candidates begins at 6:30 p.m. The debate for the Moderator candidates begins at 7:00PM. Candidates for the Board of Selectmen will face off at 7:30 PM. Town Crier News Editor Jayne Miller will moderate the debate with questions from a panel of local media.

The Wilmington Chamber of Commerce, the Reading Co-Operative Bank, WCTV, and the Wilmington Town Crier are proud sponsors of Candidates Night.

Final call for...

2015 Good Guy nominations

WILMINGTON - The snow is rapidly disappearing, and so is the time to nominate this year's Wilmington Good Guy. All nominations must be received by this Saturday, March 28, at 5PM. Send us your nominee for this year's award!

The "Good Guy" Award is given annually to an outstanding citizen—male or female—who lives in our community and gives of themselves to make our community a better place in which to live. A person's work performed as an elected official or through a paid employment position is not eligible for this award.

Nominations should be sent to the "Good Guy" Committee, c/o Bob DiPalma, 12 Harold Avenue, Wilmington, MA 01887, and should include your reasons why your "Good Guy or Gal" should be selected. If you wish to email your nomination, send it to: wgoodguy@verizon.net. All entries, to be eligible, must be received no later than 5:00 P.M. on Saturday, March 28, 2015.

The award will be presented at the 47th Annual "Good Guy" event on Friday, May 8, 2015, at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Wilmington, with a social time at 6:30 P.M. and dinner at 7:30 P.M.

This is the final notice as the Committee will be meeting soon to review the list of nominees.

Hospital cuts ill-advised

Cutting $3.5M from Tewksbury Hospital is sort of like cutting off one's nose to spite one's face.

Tewksbury Hospital faces a proposed $3.5M cut, which translates into closing a unit and the loss of 48 "full time equivalent" jobs.

With a mixed grouping of part-time and full-time scheduling, more like 50-60 people stand to lose their jobs - and with roughly 550 employees from Tewksbury, we will absolutely feel those losses in the community.

Last year Tewksbury Hospital reportedly returned $35M to the Commonwealth's general fund from insurance payments, reaching 105 percent of its revenue target. The proposed cuts will translate into a loss of revenue to the tune of $1.7million, hardly making the cuts worth it.

Part of the reason Tewksbury Hospital is so valuable is that it is a public health safety net. When a former intravenous drug user becomes medically compromised, nursing homes and rehab hospitals don't take them. When level 2 or 3 sex offenders become ill, the only place that will accept them for care is Tewksbury Hospital. Persons with significant behavioral health issues, when they need hospice care, often cannot find skilled nursing anywhere other than Tewksbury Hospital.

With the aging population, the number of beds required by this population will only rise.

The hospital, and the tremendously experienced and skilled staff that work there, comprise a safety net that this proposed cut threatens to dismantle.

Tewksbury Hospital also serves 200 homeless patients. They serve the elderly, the disabled, and offer tremendous addiction recovery programs.

Patient care will suffer as the staff layoffs occur. The hospital maintains a diverse patient base. Nurses working on the sex offender units have years of experience with the specific protocols required of that unit. Likewise those nurses working with the disabled, addicts, and other patients require specialized and skilled care. Layoffs will displace the institutional memory and expertise, potentially risking patient care.

These are programs I've seen first hand through the variety of community service work that I do - and I've only seen a minute fraction of that work. It often seems that when times are tough, those most vulnerable among us suffer the most. During the last crisis another medical unit was closed and never reopened.

We know that mental health and public health are woefully underfunded in America, and certainly Massachusetts is no exception. Perhaps Governor Baker or Lt. Governor Polito might visit the hospital and consider the impacts of 'consolidation' on revenues, job losses, and services to compromised populations (and where those folks would be forced to go).

Tewksbury, Wilmington and area residents, hospital employees, and patient families will need to advocate against these reprehensible cuts. Contact your representatives:

Letters to the editor

A vote for David Gay

Dear Neighbors:

It is with great pride and enthusiasm I support and endorse David Gay as our Selectman.

David is a member of the Public Events Committee, working on the tree lighting and fall festival in town. He is the Tewksbury representative to the Lowell Regional Transit Authority, monitoring ridership on our bus system, sits on the Town Personnel Review Board, and has previously served on the Community Preservation Committee and the Town Hall Renovation Committee, to name a few.

David was instrumental in hiring our town manager and continues close monitoring of the budget and decisions that affect the voters and taxpayers of Tewksbury.

David and I have "spirited debates" on county, state and federal elections. Although we support different candidates, he will pick up a win for state senator and I will get a strong governor. For a democrat and union boss, David is extra conservative and responsible for our tax money. He is pro-business. If it isn't in the checkbook, he simply won't spend it.

David will await the return of Brian Williams, the war hero, and I will get no spin from Bill O'Reilly. That said, David is open minded and approachable and I encourage any resident with an issue or concern to contact him.

Please join me in casting a vote for David Gay, our selectman, on April 11, 2015.

Sincerely,

Marc A. DiFrancia

Tewksbury Hospital offers exceptional care

Dear Editor,

I was shocked about the recent Tewksbury Hospital budget cuts. It is outrageous as we have personally seen the outstanding care our son, Dennis, received from Tewksbury hospital's rehabilitation department.

Dennis has been served by this outstanding, committed, and caring staff. He was there for over 10 months, but the ongoing efforts of the medical and nursing staff, as well as physical therapy, occupational therapy, and speech therapy, and even pet therapy, all worked together to outline his care. They were always available and on-hand coordinating his care with weekly meetings, email updates to our family regarding his progress, and planned care.

Having been an L.P.N. at Tewksbury for 10 years now retired- I was very surprised and impressed at the ongoing level of care meeting his special disabilities and their abilities to do all his specialized therapies.

I have been an active advocate for special needs and am so impressed with Tewksbury Hospital. I want them to be recognized, encourage this program to continue, and avoid budget cuts.

Please keep this unit open for all the community because they need their expertise for anyone who needs this specialized therapy and nursing care. We need to let everyone know how we value these services here in Tewksbury.

Sincerely,

Jean and Gene Walsh

Hope and Change

by Scott Mullooney

Vandals don't often strike in my quiet neighborhood, but when they do it always takes me by surprise. If you read the Police Logs in the newspaper, you've probably noticed a spike in criminal activity in our quiet little corner of the universe. I prefer my town's reputation for being "the town where nothing ever happens". However, even bedroom communities have things that go bump in the night.

I'm obsessive/compulsive about locking my car doors in my driveway at night. Most nights, I lock them twice (three times?). Yes, neighbors, that annoying little double beep late at night is me checking to make sure my vehicle is secure.

Thursday morning when I got into my car to go to work, I noticed my glove box was open. I'm not the neatest car person in the world. When I saw papers strewn around the floor and my auto handbook on the passenger seat, I didn't give it a second thought. I didn't notice I was robbed until I glanced in the cubbyhole next to my gear shift. My six quarters were gone! Six quarters! Seriously, vandals? You must have been A.) desperate and B.) disappointed. I can live without my hard earned six quarters but that's not the point.

I use those quarters to avoid parking tickets when I visit my son who lives in Boston. I'm tired of being caught without change for parking meters. Every time I have a spare quarter, I drop it into the change holder between my front seats. Six stolen quarters is not really the point here. My personal property being violated is not the point, either. I'll accept some of the blame for not locking my car doors this one time. I know in the past my neighborhood has been struck by thieves who snuck into cars at night and cleaned out any personal property that wasn't bolted down - cell phones, laptops, GPS systems.

(Strangely enough, my CD collection was left untouched. That says something about my musical taste.)

This has always been a quiet neighborhood, a short tree-lined street with little traffic, where dog walkers and baby carriages are common sights. This is a neighborhood with summertime block parties around the corner. This is a place where you know your neighbors in every house around you. This is a neighborhood where people across the street snow-blow your driveway and help you shovel out. This is a neighborhood where residents watch out for one another and genuinely care about each other. This is a neighborhood where thoughtful residents send greeting cards for special occasions. It's a place where your children can go to the house, across the street in case of an emergency. This is a neighborhood where my doorbell rang when my family first moved to town and we were greeted by the warm smile of an actual "Welcome Wagon" correspondent. She brought us information about the town, coupons for local vendors and a basket full of goodies. My wife and I were deeply touched at the display of generosity from this stranger who chose to welcome us to our new home in a new town. In the twenty-five years I've been here it is one of my fondest memories.

I don't want those memories replaced with crime scenes and car break-ins. I will continue to triple lock my car (sorry, neighbors) and double lock my front door. I realize the world has changed. I know there are still positive things if I look for them. The problem is, I have to look harder and harder to find the any shred of decency that still exist. The overwhelming flood of negativity is rising higher everyday. The light of hope flickers dimly, fighting against the harsh wind of a crumbling society that threatens to extinguish it. This town's downward slide into darkness starts with six stolen quarters. If we don't make an effort to stop the steady decline now where will it end?

Analog Devices receives environmental leadership award

Analog Devices wins environmental leadership award at a ceremony last Wednesday, March 18. WILMINGTON - Constant pursuit of environmental excellence earned Analog Devices, Inc. (ADI) the TURA 25th Anniversary Leadership award from the Massachusetts Toxics Use Reduction Act (TURA) Program.

At a ceremony Wednesday, March 18, representatives of the TURA Program and state legislators presented ADI with the award and toured the company's wafer fabrication facility in Wilmington, Mass.

"We selected Analog Devices due to their vigilance to never rest and always seek ways to improve," said Liz Harriman, deputy director of the Toxics Use Reduction Institute at UMass Lowell. "ADI is constantly innovating to reuse water, use safer materials and conserve energy. Their results are impressive - they increased production while saving millions of gallons of water per year, which also reduced chemical use for water treatment."

A manufacturer of high-performance semiconductors for signal processing applications, Analog Devices is one of only 9 companies across Massachusetts being honored by the TURA Program. The awards and facility tours, taking place from March through May showcase environmental accomplishments—reducing the use of toxic chemicals, reducing waste and conserving energy and water—since the Toxics Use Reduction Act was enacted into law by the Massachusetts legislature in 1989.

"It all started with our training in Toxics Use Reduction planning that has become pervasive throughout ADI," said Beth Tshudy, Environmental, Health and Safety Manager at Analog Devices in Wilmington. "The planning framework gives our team a tool to constantly analyze and improve everything we do. Our mindset is relentless pursuit of perfection. And it's worked. We've been able to increase production, save money, improve safety and become more competitive."

Substantial Five-Year Improvements

Since ADI was last recognized by the TURA Program in 2010, the company has again made substantial improvements in energy, water and chemical savings. Through energy reduction initiatives such as compressor upgrades, central utility plant optimization and lighting retrofits, the company has saved more than 16 million KWH per year. Water use conservation projects such as process water reclaim and reuse have saved nearly 90 million gallons of water per year. ADI has successfully reduced its use of sodium hydroxide and hydrochloric acid needed for resin regeneration in its deionized water production processes.

ADI works with the Marlborough-based consulting firm Capaccio Environmental Engineering to assist with their toxics use reduction planning.

"Based on our work with many clients in the high-tech sector, ADI is a clear leader. The company constantly demonstrates outstanding levels of commitment to strong environmental, health and safety performance," said Lisa Wilk, president of Capaccio Environmental Engineering, Inc. "Our work with ADI clearly demonstrates how both industry and the environment prosper when sustainable strategies are designed and implemented."

In 2014, Newsweek magazine ranked ADI as among the greenest companies in the United States. Analog Devices placed 50th in the 2014 Newsweek U.S. Green rankings, moving up from 92nd place in 2012, the last year the rankings were issued.

"Our profitability increases with market advantage gained from customers with preference for socially-responsible companies," said Tshudy. "Our big brand electronic customers demand that we comply with environmental regulations, use safer substances, be transparent and promote energy-efficient operations and products. The TURA Program helped get us here."

Rail Trail public meeting Thursday

Update on the Feasibility Study for bicycle and pedestrian paths

TEWKSBURY - Tewksbury Rail Trails announces a public meeting at Tewksbury Memorial High School on Thursday, March 26, 2015 from 6:30PM-8:00PM. The public is invited to hear from TRT leaders and the project engineers from Fay, Spofford and Thorndike on the progress of the Feasibility Study for passive recreation trails along abandoned rail bed corridors in the town. The meeting will be held in Large Group (LG) 1, on the first floor.

This is the first meeting since the Open House held in early December. A vote at the April 2013 Town Meeting allotted money, through the Community Preservation Committee, for a feasibility study to evaluate the available rail spurs in the town. The engineering firm Fay, Spofford and Thorndike of Burlington, MA was engaged and the process is underway. Fay, Spofford and Thorndike is a design, planning and consulting firm based in Burlington, Massachusetts. With considerable experience in rail trail design, FST is working with citizen group Tewksbury Rail Trails and the Town of Tewksbury to evaluate trail options and offer guidance through various stages of the process. The public is welcome to visit the high school and hear the progress so far. The presentation will begin at approximately 6:30-7PM. For more information, contact Tewksbury Rail Trails at tewksburyrailtrails@gmail.com or on Facebook at Tewksbury Rail Trails.

Martinson FOR Moderator

DEDICATED HUSBAND AND FATHER

Since settling in Wilmington, Leigh obtained a law degree at night while working full time as an engineer and patent agent. Throughout the course of the past decade, Leigh has volunteered as a youth soccer coach, youth lacrosse coach, and youth hockey coach here in Wilmington, while also serving as a member of the Wilmington Youth Hockey Association board of directors. He looks forward to continuing his record of public service by serving as Wilmington's next Town Moderator.

INDEPENDENT AND RESOURCEFUL

Leigh was sworn into the Massachusetts Bar in 2003 at the time when the dotcom bubble burst. Committed to making Wilmington his permanent family home, Leigh commuted from Wilmington to Philadelphia to support his family for nearly a year before working his way back home at a prestigious Boston law firm. Just four years later, Leigh earned a coveted partnership at the firm of McDermott, Will & Emery LLP in Boston.

EXPERIENCED AND QUICK ON HIS FEET

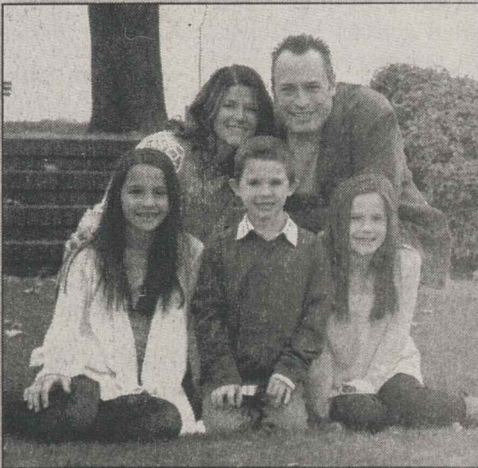

As a seasoned intellectual property litigator for Fortune 500 companies in Federal Courts throughout the United States, Leigh has excelled as a litigation attorney by absorbing volumes of information, understanding the rules, getting prepared, and being quick on his feet.

"Given my experiences, I believe that I am particularly well suited to serve as Moderator. If the residents of Wilmington see fit to elect me as Moderator, it is my hope and expectation to continue an established history of continuity and excellence in that position. I look forward to serving for many years to come."

Keep hospital funding

There is no good reason to cut funding to Tewksbury hospital - which serves some of the most medically fragile and complex patients in our state. Cut that funding, where will those people go and will they receive the skilled nursing care they need? And, who will pay for that?

It's A Sweet Life is a family owned candy store celebrating their first anniversary as Wilmington's own Candy/Gift Store. Located at 35 Lowell Street in The Colonial Park Plaza (next to As Good As it Gets Cafe) they're quickly becoming a staple in the community.

In fact, within they're first 8 months of business they were voted one of Wilmington's Favorite Things for 2014. If you haven't been there yet you're missing out on delicious fudge, gourmet chocolates, truffles and a good old fashion candy buffet that kids of all ages can't resist. Put it on your list of things to do!

The owner, Theresa Stanford, grew up surrounded by happy memories of going to the corner candy store with her eight siblings and felt that this was a cherished experience her many nieces and nephews, growing up in Wilmington, were missing out on.

With each passing day she gets to know more and more of her customers on a personal level and finds it heartwarming to watch these younger kids create their own childhood memories as they joyfully make selections from Soils Extravaganza!

By SHARON ADELMAN CROWLEY
Crier Correspondent
Sharon@Yourtowncrier.com

Can you tell which type of soil has the best water absorption? Second grade students at Loella F. Dewing Elementary School can!

In the culminating activity for their science unit on soils, the second grade team had the opportunity to conduct hands-on experiments with sand, clay and humus - not to be confused with humus made with chickpeas and garlic - rather top soil or loam.

It's a dry subject at first - no pun intended. "Who cares? Why do we need soil?" second grade teacher Sarah Yore asked her students.

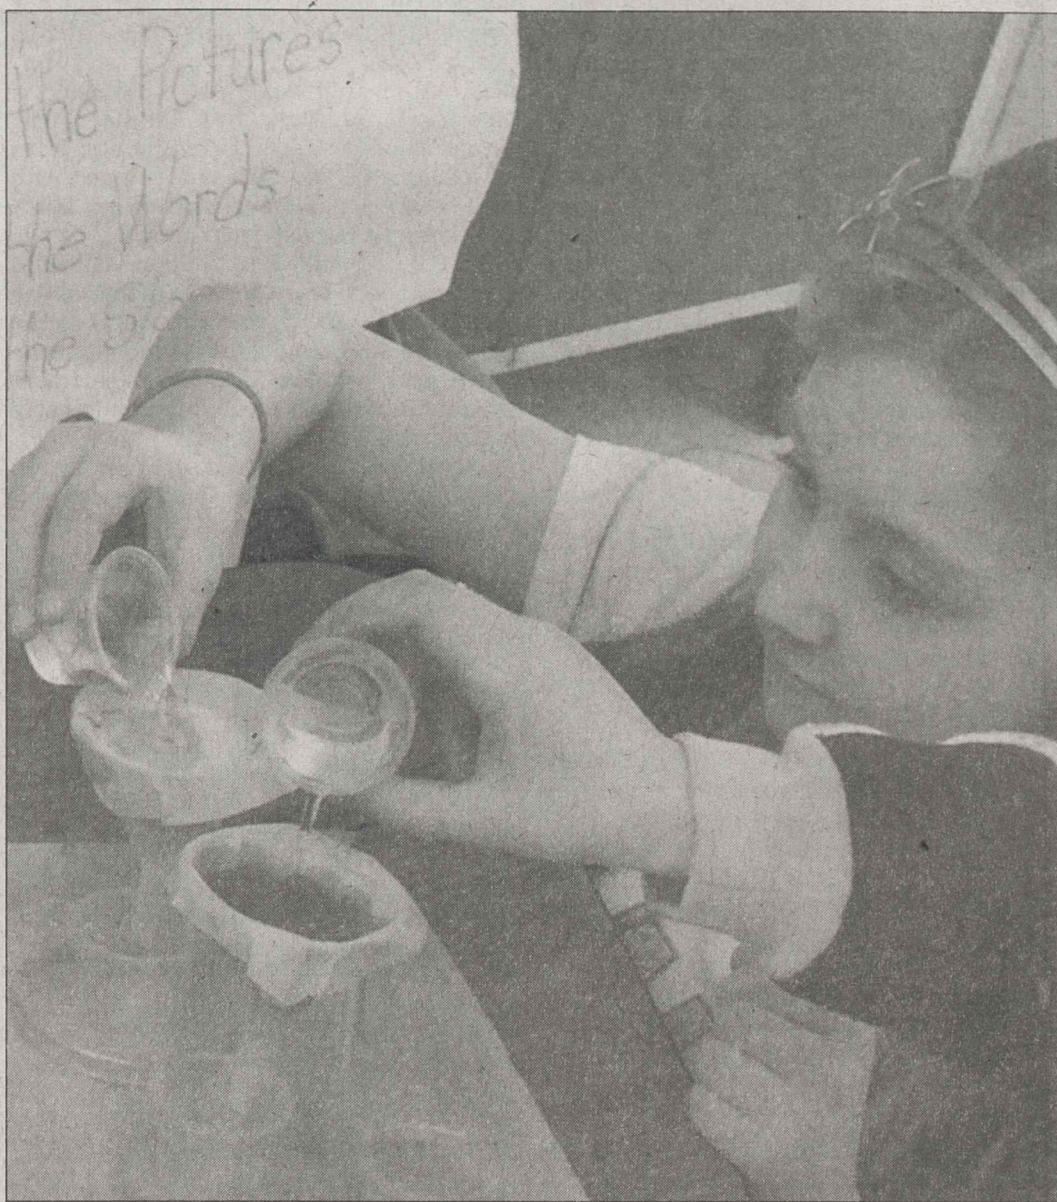

"We do a lot of reading first and we make predictions: What do we know? What we want to know? Basically the experiment is about the absorption of water."

Then students move out of books and into a lab experience to learn the process of experimentation. "They collect evidence from the investigation," said Yore.

Over a three-day period, 8 second grade classes break into groups, mixing with other classes. "They are used to sharing in their own classroom community. This allows them to expand their knowledge with others," Yore explained.

Yore and the other second grade teachers invite between 6 to 10 parents in each room, each day. "The parent piece is wonderful, it provides an opportunity for them to participate in their children's learning, not just through papers that come home."

In one room, students and their parents add water to the different soil samples then then feel the results. In another room they add water to the soil, roll it around in their hands and smear it on paper to see what happens when the water dries. "They are using all their senses to find the unique properties of the soils," said Yore.

Second grade student Jocelyn Delorey experiments with water absorption during the Soils Extravaganza at the Dewing Elementary School last week. The science program is part of the curriculum but the labs make digging into this topic more fun than kids might otherwise think.

They found that clay makes the best balls of soil. Because of its density, clay sticks together. "You could not roll a ball of sand or humus," said Yore.

At the beach however, you could roll a ball of sand if it was saturated enough with water.

Yore polled 13 students who said the "rolling and smearing was the most fun because they were able to get their hands sticky and gooey."

This is the sixth year Soils Extravaganza has been featured in the Dewing curriculum. Yore acknowledges the school's library in the project's success. "Our library at the Dewing is great," she said. "Assistant Principal Jan Fuller and PAC Chairperson Nicole Downing have really expanded it to include wonderful non-fiction books for this age group. They worked hard with us to find out what texts we need to support our science and social studies curriculum."

The students also had access to great videos that reached students on their level, Yore said. "They really knew a lot before they got to the hands-on portion. They could tell you about horizons (layers) before it hit bedrock. They became so excited about soil. That to me was key."

Next week students will debrief - reviewing their evidence, data notes and soil notebooks, then writing about their findings. They will ask questions and talk about what they learned.

"Hopefully the outcome is that they realize of all the soils, the particles are too small in clay, too large in sand and just right in humus for water absorption," said Yore. "And that humus is the right environment for plants to root and access the nutrients and water they need to grow."

DEWING ELEMENTARY NEWS

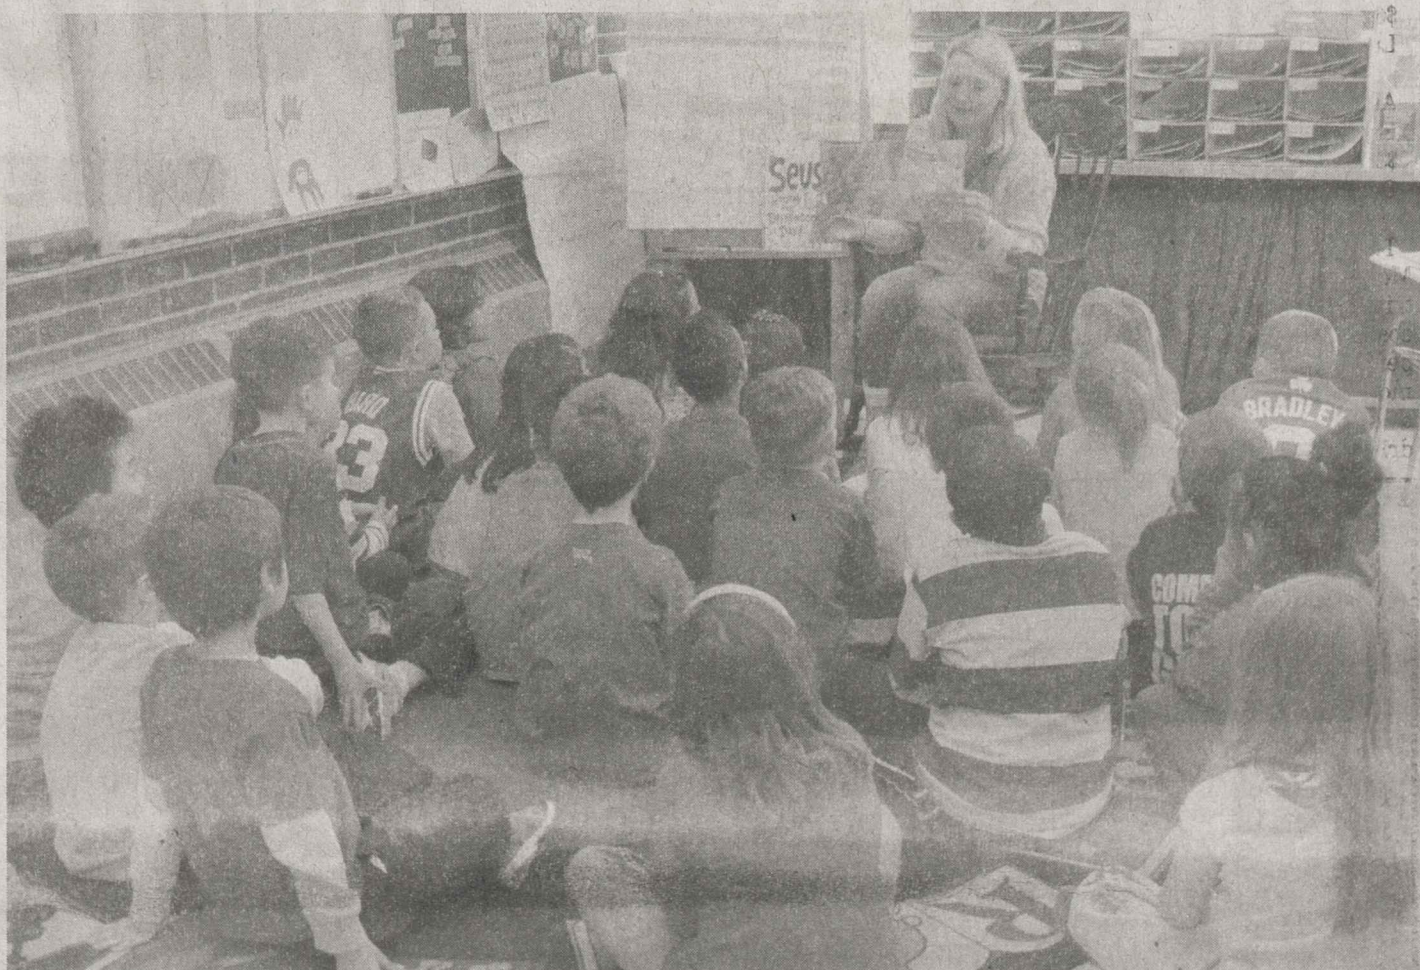

Local teens make reading fun

TEWKSBURY - The Dewing School recently celebrated Dr. Seuss's birthday by hosting guest readers in each of their classrooms. The National Education Association annually sponsors Read Across America for Dr. Seuss's birthday. The program focuses on motivating children to read, in addition to helping them master basic skills. Motivating children to read is an important factor in student achievement and creating lifelong successful readers. Research has shown that children who are motivated and spend more time reading do better in school.

As part of their celebration this year, the entire school (students and staff) participated in a 20-minute DEAR (Drop Everything and Read) time on March 2nd. After reading Oh the Places You'll Go, students and staff joined together in the halls all around the Dewing to read books together. Students enjoyed a visit from the Cat in the Hat!

This year, the readers are student leaders and athletes from Tewksbury Memorial High School, many of whom went to the Dewing School as elementary students. Administrators were pleased to welcome students to the Dewing School as their guest readers. The primary reading activity this year is for children to complete a reading challenge by reading 3000 books in just two weeks. Dewing students have risen to that challenge and have read more than 3100 books so far!

The Dewing School focuses on literacy activities every day to ensure that all of their students become successful and competent readers. In March, however, they plan specific activities to get their students reading even more. Their planning committee included teachers and administrators: Robyn Hakala, Special Education; Liz Robinson, Reading Specialist; Beth Krzesinski, Second Grade; Sarah Yore, Second Grade; Shelley Wrobel, Second Grade; Kelly Scialdone, First Grade; and Jan Fuller, Assistant Principal.

Meghan Arsenault reads Jack and the Leprechaun to Mrs. Cournoyer and Mrs. Robinson's class. Paige Winn also read The Night Before St. Patrick's Day. Meghan had Mrs. Cournoyer when she was at the Dewing.

Site Progress Update

Sutton Brook Disposal Area Superfund

WILMINGTON / TEWKSBURY - Spanning the two town lines near Rt 93, also known as Rocco's dump, The Sutton Brook Disposal Area Superfund Site has announced its progress update. During the project EPA will provide updates on upcoming site activities as much in advance as feasible.

What residents should expect:

It is expected that construction work will be ramping up again as spring approaches. Snow remains on site, so some schedules are still a bit tentative.

As weather has improved, it is anticipated that soil deliveries will begin again during the week of March 23, rather than March 30, 2015. Going forward, the Site will be active and regular deliveries of materials, supplies or equipment will continue. Large volume soil deliveries and associated truck traffic will not start until later in the spring.

Operating hours will generally be between 7:00 am to 4:30 pm.

EPA anticipates having additional schedule information and updating site information by mid-April.

For more information, contact: Sarah White, 617-918-1026, EPA Community Involvement Coordinator white.sarah@epa.gov or Don McElroy, EPA Project Manager 617-918-1326, mcelroy.don@epa.gov.

North Street School's PAC to award two scholarships

The North Street PAC (Parent Advisory Committee) will be awarding two, $250 scholarships at its April Meeting (April 2nd), 2015. Any student who is a Tewksbury resident, regardless of which high school they attend, is eligible to apply. The winners are drawn randomly from a list of interested applicants. The following criteria must be met:

1. The applicant must have attended the North Street

School during their elementary schooling years.

2. The applicant must be a high school senior.

3. The student must be enrolled in an accredited college. Proof of first term completion must be presented.

4. Funds are not awarded to the student until completion of first term.

To apply, send an email to northstpac@gmail.com prior to April 2, 2015.

Class of '95 reunion

The Wilmington High School Class of 1995 will be having its 20-year reunion to be held on Thursday April 2nd at the The Great American Tavern in North Reading at 7:30 pm. No charge to come. Cash bar and people can order food off the menu if they choose.

Over 200 children meet the Easter Bunny at TCC

This past Sunday, Tewksbury Congregational Church celebrated the beginning of the spring season by inviting local families to come visit the Easter Bunny.

The event was wildly successful with over 200 individuals enjoying an afternoon munching on Donna's Donuts, creating one of the many art based activities available and getting their picture taken with the Easter Bunny by EKG Photography.

For more information regarding the free youth education programming at Tewksbury Congregational Church, located at 10 East Street Tewksbury, MA (across from the Town Common), please visit their website at www.tewksburycc.org.

Tewksbury Congregational Church, a member of one of the largest Protestant denominations in New England, is located across from the Town Common, and was established in 1735. Tewksbury Congregational Church welcomes all people desiring to lead their lives according to the teachings of Jesus Christ, regardless of race, color, national origin, previous religious background, economic status, gender, age, sexual orientation, or physical challenges.

Public Library adds new member to its staff

The Tewksbury Public Library is pleased to welcome Corinn Flaherty as the new Reference Librarian to join their staff.

Flaherty has a Master's Degree in Library Science from St. John's in Queens, New York and prior to joining the Tewksbury Library, spent two years with the Boxford Library in their Circulation Department.

With a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Textiles from the Massachusetts College of Art and Design in Boston, she managed the textile studio at Gateway Arts in Brookline, working with adults with developmental and psychiatric disabilities. Corinn also completed an extended internship with the Osborne Library at the Textile History Museum in Lowell.

Flaherty stated, "I'm excited about this unique opportunity of working with a larger community with more diverse research needs. I'm looking forward to meeting patrons and members of the community and helping out wherever I can."

Diane Giarrusso, Director of the Tewksbury Public Library, commented that "the Library is thrilled to have Corinn as part of the team providing valuable resources to the community. And I invite the public to stop by and introduce themselves to her."

Flaherty is located on the second floor and can be reached at 978.640.4490 x207 or email mteref@mvlc.org.

Town of Wilmington Scholarship

WILMINGTON - The Town of Wilmington has authorized the establishment of the Town Scholarship Fund Committee.

Through the municipal tax bills, taxpayers can voluntarily pledge an amount to the scholarship fund. In addition, in the spring of 2011 the Luddy Weisberg and Lena Leiter student scholarship fund was established.

The purpose of these funds is to provide educational financial aid to deserving town residents who have been accepted to pursue education beyond the secondary school level at an accredited institution.

In addition to a residency requirement, the Committee shall take into consideration financial need, character, scholastic record, involvement in the community, and extracurricular activities.

Scholarship applications are available at Wilmington High School, 159 Church Street, Wilmington; Shawsheen Vocational Tech, 100 Cook Street, Billerica; Wilmington Town Hall, 121 Glen Road, Wilmington; Wilmington Public Library, Middlesex Avenue, Wilmington; and the Administration Office of the Wilmington Public Schools, 161 Church Street, Wilmington, MA 01887.

Deadline for Filing Application is 3:45 p.m. on Friday, April 17, 2015.

Remembering Tewksbury's Past:

Tew-Mac Airport & Annie Sullivan

TEWKSBURY - When it comes to local history, most know that the Tewksbury Country Club used to be Tw-Mac airport. Many don't know that Tewksbury, at one time, played host to three airports.

Brendan Kiernan, a History Agent for the Tewksbury Historical Society, will present some interesting stories about this old airport on March 27, 2015 at the Tewksbury Library starting at 1:00pm.

Christina Rohrbacher, another History Agent will talk and show some slides about one of Tewksbury's most famous women, Annie Sullivan. Annie and her brother lived at Tewksbury Hospital. Sullivan, Helen Keller's teacher, is memorialized on the Tewksbury common in a Mico Kaufman sculpture titled Water.

This meeting is open to the public and is an annual meeting for people to meet members of the Society. Our store will be set up and refreshments will be served.

The meeting is open to the public and is free of charge. Contact Robert Hayes at Tewksbury Library to reserve a chair for the presentations.

Future presentations are planned in collaboration with the Library on Wednesday, April 22. David Marcus, Interim President, will speak on Revolutionary War Soldiers from Tewksbury. He will cover three leaders of Tewksbury's Militia and Minutemen who marched on April 19, 1775 to the Battle of Lexington and Concord. Marcus will tell stories of the men who fought at Bunker Hill, the Battle of Rhode Island, and Bennington/Saratoga.

On Sunday, April 19th, 2015, the Line-of-March Program will be organizing a march of citizens to cover part of the same route the Minutemen marched on April 19, 1775. Costumes will be available in advance and more details will be forthcoming. The march will help raise money to maintain the eventual erection of 9 Memorial Granite Stones along the marching route. The Society will be going to the Selectmen of Tewksbury to ask for permission and placement of the educational and memorial stones along this historic route in late spring.

The Line-of-March committee has been quietly raising private funds to complete this project. Banks such as the Enterprise Bank, the Lowell Five Bank, and the Salem Five Bank have been supporting this project. The new Wamesit Lanes has donated money and Griffin Greenhouse Supplies are both financial supporters of this fund drive. The RTN Credit Union has supported the Society financially so the Society can present these compelling stories of Tewksbury's past.

On Friday, May 15th, 2015 at the Tewksbury Senior Center in the evening at 7:00pm, Kevin Comtois will talk on "Swinging Our Way to Victory; The Music of the World War II Era." He will use images and music from that time to relate to that era. An entertaining evening is in store for Tewksbury to remember this era. Tickets will go on sale at the New Members Meeting.

Schedule change

The schedule moves sixth grade lunch to 9:54 AM, seventh grade lunch to 10:43 AM and eighth grade lunch to 11:32 AM, with all lunch periods lasting one half hour.

In their presentation, Olsen and Sheehan contended that the middle school had adequate staffing, but without proper utilization of said staff. The new schedule would eliminate several part time positions, while creating room for new full time positions, including an eighth grade math teacher, an eighth grade social studies teacher, and a sixth grade math teacher.

The new schedule would eliminate the need for multiple part-time positions at the middle school.

"You're much better off with people who have a full-time investment in the building," Olsen stated to the Crier.

Per the presentation, 66% of teachers polled at the middle school approved of the new schedule. An alternative plan, and the option to remain at the current status quo, were not well received by comparison.

There is still a long way to go before the new schedule could be fully implemented. The school committee will need to approve the schedule at Wednesday's meeting. If the school committee agrees to the plan, Olsen will need to do a "pilot" year for the new schedule, before it can be officially sanctioned.

The Crier will continue to follow this story as it develops.

Town launches new trash and recycling campaign

WILMINGTON - The Town is announcing details of its public outreach effort for the new Automated Trash & Recycling program. The program is to be implemented this summer for all households receiving residential trash and recycling collection from the Town. The outreach effort will explain, demonstrate, and answer questions about how the new Automated program will work.

The Town is preparing to enter into contract with Russell Disposal Inc. to transition from standard collection of solid waste to automated collection. The Automated program will be rolled out this summer. Throughout the state, communities have found that automated programs have reduced collection and disposal costs and increased recycling rates.

An automated collection program is centered on standardized carts, or barrels, which are collected by trucks using mechanical arms to lift and dump their contents into the collection trucks. Automated programs reduce costs by reducing the staff needed for collection, reducing work-related injuries that arise from physically lifting and dumping barrels, and by reducing solid waste disposed of by limiting the amount of non-recyclable trash that can be disposed of each week. The Town pays a $63 per-ton fee for all non-recyclable materials disposed of as trash. Currently only 17 percent of the Town's waste is recycled.

To help residents prepare for the new program and understand the changes involved the Department of Public Works will be launching a town wide public outreach effort. The outreach will include mailings, presentations, demonstrations, and informational programming on WCTV, all with the goal of ensuring residents are ready for the switch to automated collection this summer.

Each household will receive via mail informational material notifying them of the new Automated Trash & Recycling program roll-out. Included in the mailings will be postcards and booklets outlining all the details of how it works and what to expect. Mailings will begin in April and continue until the program roll-out is complete.

The DPW and Russell Disposal Inc. will be visiting with different groups throughout town to present the program and demonstrate how the trash and recycling carts work. The first presentation has been scheduled for Seniors on Thursday, April 30, 1PM, at the Buzzel Senior Center. Presentations are also being scheduled for the schools, dates to be coordinated with the School Department.

Sample carts (barrels and bins for trash and recycling) will be available at various Town events and buildings for residents to test out. The sample carts represent the sizes that will be distributed to each household receiving municipal trash and recycling collection. The 95 gallon cart will be for recycling, and the 64 gallon cart will be for trash. Sample carts will be placed at the entrance hallway at Town Hall, at polling stations for the Town Election on Saturday, April 25, at the Welcome to Wilmington Reception at the Memorial Library, scheduled for Thursday, April 30, 6:30PM - 8:30PM, and at the check-in area at the Annual Town Meeting, on Saturday, May 2, 10:30AM, at the Wilmington High School.

An informational presentation is being planned for WCTV. Scheduled airing dates to be announced as the details are finalized. A Frequently Asked Questions sheet has been posted on the DPW web page and additional information will be posted as details of the outreach and collection program are finalized. Residents are encouraged to check the DPW page for ongoing updates.

Collection schedules (aka: assigned trash day), bi-weekly recycling schedules, yard waste collection, curbside bulky item (i.e. furniture) collection, and curbside white goods (i.e. appliances) collection will not be impacted by the new Automated program.

sider purchasing the property themselves. It might make no sense, but maybe we can move the DPW over there."

Lingenfelter had lots of ideas, but the biggest bombshell came when he presented the Board with copies of a complaint, and told the Board that he will be "suing the Town."

The letter, dated October 31, 2013, references the "non-conforming garaging of a Type A1 School Bus (wheel base greater than 135 inches and GVWR greater than 6,000 pounds) and more than 1 non-resident (2 to 4 non-residents) routinely gathering at and parking their vehicles at the 9 Concord St. property for multiple days at a time in association with a commercial A Capella Group."

Lingenfelter's major complaint is, "the Wilmington Building Inspector Mr. Al Spaulding is not enforcing applicable in-habitant zoning by-laws at the residential properties located at 9 and 13 Concord Street and 60 Federal Street," adding that, "A commercial tree (Forrest Tree Service) and crane (Bill's Crane) business was currently being operated out of the 60 Federal St. Property."

Lingenfelter, a direct abutter to the 9 and 13 Concord St. properties, is asking the Town to enforce the applicable in-habitant zoning by-laws. He presented several documents to the Board including the Complaint, the revised, up-to-date Wilmington Zoning Bylaw, a letter from Dan Paret, Town of Wilmington Building Inspector to the violating parties, Mr. and Mrs. Felice and Anna Sellito, showing photos of an 8 foot tall steel spite fence located at 13 Concord St. ostensibly erected with no building permit, as well as other structures, including a storage building.

Lingenfelter also provided correspondence with the firm Weston and Patrick, and a letter from the Building Code Appeals Board.

Chairman O'Connell acknowledged Lingenfelter's concerns telling him they would need to review the documentation before going forward.

The drama continued, when resident Kevin MacDonald, also in a run for Board of Selectmen, got up to voice his opinions. He began, "I have a few issues pertaining to the school." O'Connell asked, "Have you gone to the Assessor's office?" MacDonald began referencing "The people of Wilmington," at which point, Selectman Michael Newhouse asked to interrupt. MacDonald, raising his voice substantially, said, "I don't interrupt you, Mr. Newhouse." Newhouse asked simply, "What people?"

MacDonald then directed his concerns to the Town Manager, saying, "The taxpayers of Wilmington have been lied to," and called the Board "irresponsible." O'Connell ruled MacDonald's questions and comments out of order and asked him to "please withdraw from the meeting." After some time in a separate session, the Board returned and called the meeting back to order. Police were alerted, and three officers arrived to the Town Hall without further incident.

O'Connell concluded the meeting with a reminder that the Yentile Farm Redevelopment Presentation is being held on April 15th at the Middle School Auditorium at 7:00 pm.

Boston Marathon bombing trial

Terrorism expert says Tsarnaev note uses jihadi material

Jurors see white hat worn in attacks; new indictment

BOSTON (AP) — A terrorism expert has testified that a note Boston Marathon bomber Dzhokhar Tsarnaev (joh-HAHR' tsahr-NEYE'-ehv) wrote explaining the 2013 attack used themes of global jihad similar to those in materials found on his computer.

At Tsarnaev's federal death penalty trial Monday, Matthew Levitt compared Tsarnaev's note to extremist materials found on his computer. Those included issues of Inspire magazine, an al-Qaida publication, and audio lectures by Anwar al-Awlaki, an American-born Muslim cleric who was killed in a U.S. drone strike in Yemen in 2011.

In his note, Tsarnaev wrote that the bombings were carried out as retaliation for U.S. actions in Muslim countries.

Levitt is expected to be cross-examined Tuesday by Tsarnaev's lawyers.

White Hat

On Tuesday, jurors in the trial of Boston Marathon bomber Dzhokhar Tsarnaev were shown the white cap that helped authorities identify him as a suspect in the 2013 deadly attack.

During testimony jurors were shown items found in his dorm room at the University of Massachusetts-Dartmouth. The white cap was found on Tsarnaev's bed.

The FBI referred to Tsarnaev as "White Hat" until they were able to identify him. Photos and surveillance videos of Tsarnaev wearing the cap backwards were released by the FBI three days after the bombings when they asked for the public's help in identifying the suspects — Tsarnaev and his older brother, Tamerlan.

The hat was a Ralph Lauren Polo with the figure of a man on a horse on the front and the number '3' on the side.

Tsarnaev's lawyers admitted during their opening statement that Tsarnaev participated in the bombings, but said Tamerlan was the mastermind. Tamerlan, 26, died four days after the bombings following a gun battle with police.

Blaming Chechnya

Also on Tuesday, jurors were shown a note that Tsarnaev wrote to college officials three months before the bombings in which he attributed his poor grades to losing "too many" loved ones in Chechnya.

Tsarnaev, then in his sophomore year, wrote that his relatives live in Chechnya, which he described as a republic "that is occupied by Russian soldiers that falsely accuse and abduct innocent men under false pretenses and terrorist accusations."

Tsarnaev said he was now at the point where he could focus on his school work.

"I wish to do well so one day I can help out those in need in my country, especially my family members," he wrote.

Tsarnaev, then 19, did not identify the family members or give any other information.

Mark Preble, the chief financial officer of UMass-

Dartmouth, said Tsarnaev's appeal to restore his financial aid was denied after he submitted his explanation.

The jury also was shown a transcript of Tsarnaev's grades. He received three F's and one B during the fall 2012 semester, the months before the bombing.

New Indictment

On Thursday, March 19, the Middlesex District Attorney's Office issued a statement that it has jurisdiction to prosecute the criminal case in connection with the murder of MIT Police Officer Sean Collier in Cambridge on April 18, 2013.

"Dzhokhar Tsarnaev has been indicted by a Middlesex County Grand Jury for the murder of Sean Collier and we intend to move forward with criminal charges against Tsarnaev after the current federal trial is completed," said District Attorney Ryan. "In addition, the investigation remains active into the incident which occurred on Laurel Street in Watertown on Friday, April 19. The written investigatory report concerning the Laurel Street incident is anticipated to be completed within two months."

Three people were killed and more than 260 were injured when twin bombs went off near the finish line of the marathon on April 15, 2013.

Tsarnaev's lawyers have admitted he participated in the bombings, but said his older brother, Tamerlan, was the mastermind.

Celebrating More Than a Decade of Life-Changing Transformations

Sheri:
"I never thought I could be this small again."

"I had always been thin until I had my two kids," says Methuen resident Sheri Panas, 39. "Then I put on extra weight that I just couldn't lose. I felt like I was wearing a sumo wrestler suit."

Inspired by a co-worker who had undergone Lap Band® surgery at Lowell General Hospital, Panas underwent a sleeve gastrectomy on August 28, 2012. The surgery reduced her stomach to about 15 percent of its original size, limiting food intake and making her feel full after eating smaller portions.

In the year following her surgery, she'd lost over 100 pounds. But it's what she's gained that has her so happy.

"Now I can do fun things with my family," Panas says. "I couldn't keep up with their schedules before."

She walks for exercise, and has returned to the gym to rebuild muscle strength.

And one of the best outcomes, she says, is simply stepping on the scale and seeing the low numbers.

"It's great, walking into a store and heading to the rack with sizes 4 and 6," Panas says. "I can try them on and they fit and look good. I never thought I could be this small again!"

Wilmington native Jim McNally

Former Pro Boxer opens his own gym

By BRENDAN FOLEY
Sports Correspondent

BrendanMFoley@Outlook.com

NORTH READING- In a nondescript building on Main Street in North Reading, Jim McNally has created one of the last shrines to the great sport of boxing. After decades involved with law enforcement, McNally, a Wilmington native, has returned home to share his passion and knowledge with younger generations.

"I've been involved with this sport all my life," McNally said. "It's been in my blood."

Jim "Gentleman Jim" McNally comes from a legacy of boxers. His father, Bernie, was ranked No. 14 in the world, in the heavy-weight class. Trained by his father, Jim won the New England Golden Gloves Heavyweight Championship in 1974 before going on to a professional career which ended with a record of 19-1. When a car accident curtailed his boxing career, Jim made the leap to law enforcement, spending seven years with the Secret Service and another 22 with the ATF.

When McNally reached the mandatory retirement age two years ago, he found himself searching for a new outlet for his energy. Work with local law enforcement did not satisfy him, and McNally found himself drawn to the idea of opening up an old school boxing gym where he could train children of all ages in the important skills and techniques.

"A boxing workout is as good as any workout around," McNally said. "Everything is on an interval, three minutes on and three minutes rest. You can come in and have a real good workout in 45 minutes. You can come in at any time and have a great workout in a short time. It's all on you."

The Jim McNally Boxing Gym is 2,700 square feet and is dominated by the regulation-size ring in the center of the main room. Surrounding the ring are various punching bags, speed bags, and other equipment.

The walls are lined with a living history of McNally's family and American boxing. Images depict Jim and Bernie before, during and after epic bouts, pictures from Jim's law enforcement days, as well as autographs from the likes of Johnny Ruiz, two-time heavyweight champion and former trainee of Jim McNally.

"I think it's a very good environment," McNally said. "You could have the world champion and someone who's just starting out working out side by side and doing the same workout, and it doesn't affect either one."

McNally and his longtime friend and training partner Brian Theurer are both certified trainers, and they endeavor to teach students of all ages the techniques and forms needed to succeed in boxing, and in all other sports.

"I play hockey and this has really raised the level of my hand-speed and strength," said Ed Griffin. "You need to have the mental stability as well as the physical condition, and training here makes you work on two things at once."

Wilmington High School senior Peter Daley has seen his performance in football and other sports drastically improve since he began training with Jim and Brian.

"It's a great workout, no matter how old you are," Daley said. "It really helps you out with all your other sports."

The classes are no contact, and are open for boys and girls. While McNally and Theurer have created an atmosphere as reminiscent of classical boxing as possible, they do not throw punches, instead teaching the forms and motions of strong self-defense. McNally is fully aware of the concerns surrounding concessions and other injuries that can be sustained in boxing, and he has worked to make sure that his gym and classes are a safe space.

The response from teenagers, children and parents has been immediate and positive, even in the short life of the gym.

"He really pushes you," said Wilmington High School senior Matt Penney. "You always get a good workout, and once I got the hang out of it, I just loved it."

McNally has seen just as warm a reception from children as young as eight, some of whom come to the gym without being able to do a push-up, but who rapidly cultivate strength and confidence.

"This sport is about challenging yourself and overcoming obstacles," McNally said. "And every time you do that, you go and put more on."

With the throwback atmos-

On Sunday morning, McNally's Gym in North Reading was busy with many locals training. The gym is owned by Jim McNally (far right) and his longtime training partner is Brian Theurer (left) and the two of them work with Wilmington residents Matt Penney, Peter Daley and Ed Griffin. phere and training techniques, and the lack of modern equipment, McNally is fully aware that his gym might not fit into the modern landscape of crossfit or other such fashionable workout trends. Boxing has fallen out of popular consciousness, something which he attributes to big fights being stuck behind a paywall on cable or pay-per-view. Cutting the sport off the public eye took away the chance for a generation to develop a real interest.

"Boxing is not for everybody, but for some kids it's a great release and that can be a very good thing," McNally said. "I'd like to reach some of those kids."

But McNally has seen some signs of a resurgence in interest in his sport, with boxing returning to broadcast television and independent leagues starting up. And if nothing else, with his gym he has constructed a place where he can impart some of the athletic and character skills which his own time in the ring and training with his father helped foster.

"You can always do more than you think you can do,"

McNally said. "Don't look down on yourself. Give yourself a high rating than you normally would, because you can achieve more."

The Jim McNally Gym is located at 48 Main Street in North Reading. You may contact him at 978-664-1900 or locate him on Facebook, Jim McNally Boxing, LLC.

Almost 200 people have signed up for Sunday's event

Big numbers already for annual McCarthy Road Race

By BRENDAN FOLEY
Sports Correspondent

BrendanMFoley@Outlook.com

TEWKSBURY- Spring is in the air, despite the snow on the ground, which means it must be time for the annual Meghan McCarthy memorial 5K race. Hundreds of Tewksbury residents have already signed up to run or walk the flat 5K course on March 29 for another year supporting a great cause.

The race was founded as a tribute to Meghan McCarthy, a Tewksbury Memorial High School student whose life was tragically cut short by a brain tumor in January of 2010. Meghan devoted much of her short life to spreading awareness and raising donations for awareness, and her friends, family and classmates have dedicated themselves to continuing in that legacy with this race.

"She was a magnificent kid, just from what she did in her own short life," said Sherry Iuliano. "She really got out there and showed everyone just how much you can do."

Iuliano is a member of the "Flying Henrys" team, who ride in the Pan-Mass Challenge every year to raise money for cancer research. Iuliano and the other Flying Henrys met Meghan through the "Pedal Partner" program sponsored by the Jimmy Fund, and Meghan had an immediate impact on the team that has lasted long after she passed.

MEGHAN MCCARTHY

"We consider her our eternal pedal partner," Iuliano.

After the last of Meghan's classmates graduated from the high school, Iuliano and others, including Meghan's mother Leigh, wanted to ensure that the race would continue even without Meghan's peers in the school. They took over the running of the race last year, and early results show that enthusiasm is still very strong.

Iuliano reported that 185 individuals have already signed up online for the race, while many more are expected to register in the remaining time, along with the expected boon from day-of registrants.

Anyone who arrives will be rewarded with a fun time.

The race is due to kickoff at 9 AM, and professional time keepers will track everyone's times. Food, drink and music will be provided, and medals will be handed out after the race to top finishers.

This year's race will also have a bonus fundraising prize: Anyone who raises $500 or more before the run has their name entered to win a pair of Red Sox tickets.

Race day itself will feature some side events, like a contest rewarding the three racers who wear the pinkiest clothing.

Pre-registered participants can pick up their bibs and t-shirts at the Tewksbury Sports Club from 9 AM to noon on Saturday.

You can also register for the race during the same time frame at the Tewksbury Sports Club. Racers can also sign up online, at <http://www.active.com/tewksbury-ma/running/races/meghan-mccarthy-5k-road-race-2015>. With so much festivity in the air, what has Iuliano most excited is the chance to see the community come together in support of a girl whose memory has refused to fade, even over five years since she passed.

"I'm looking forward most to the community coming together and just remembering her," Iuliano said. "She was a great kid, and we're keeping her memory alive."

Scifo and Curtis hit the college baseball fields

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com

The Spring sports season is finally getting underway for some of our local college athletes, at least for those lucky enough to be in Florida or other points south with their baseball or softball teams. We've got some lacrosse and track mixed in as well.

WILMINGTON

Starting with baseball, UMass Amherst senior shortstop Vinny Scifo -- a former Town Crier Male Athlete of the Year -- had a big weekend for the Minutemen against Dayton. First on Saturday, in a 5-0 UMass win, Scifo went 1-for-2 with four walks, a stolen base, an RBI and two runs scored. He followed that up on Sunday with another hit to go along with an RBI and two runs scored.

Assumption College freshman relief pitcher Mike Curtis continued his strong first season of college baseball recently in a game against Franklin Pierce, pitching a scoreless inning of relief while striking out two batters in a 6-5 Greyhounds loss.

Salem State junior pitcher Tim Woods was the hard luck loser for the Vikings recently in their 9-5 loss to Baldwin Wallace. Woods held the undefeated Yellow Jackets to no earned runs over 4.2 innings of work, but some shaky defense led to five unearned runs before Baldwin-Wallace blew the game open late against the Vikings bullpen.

Turning to softball, Worcester State junior Taylor Hanley had a big day last Thursday in a pair of games for the Lancers. First, in an 8-0 win over Lancaster Bible, Hanley was 1-for-1 with a double and a run scored. Later in the day she was 2-for-4 with two doubles in a 3-2 Lancers win over Concordia.

Back on March 17, Hanley homered against Malacaster for her first round tripper of the season.

In lacrosse, Bentley University senior Brendan Murphy has kicked off his final season with the Falcons Lacrosse team and has played in one game so far, scoring a goal recently in the Falcons 17-3 win over District of Columbia University.

Regis College senior attack Peter Leighton had two goals and an assist in a 13-1 Pride win over Green Mountain College last Saturday. Leighton now has six goals on the season to go along with six assists and has 12 points are the third most on the team.

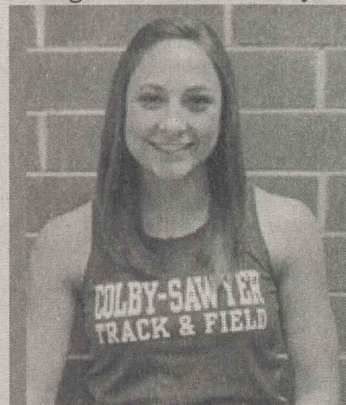

Rivier University senior defender Andy Wells has started six of the Raiders seven games on the season, helping them to a 5-2 start to the season. Wells and his defensive teammates have combined to hold their opponents to just six goals per game on the season.

On the women's side for Rivier, sophomore attack Jane Farrell had two goals for the Raiders in a 19-5 win over Albertus Magnus last Saturday. Farrell also had a pair of ground ball pickups in the win.

Endicott College freshman defender Caroline Robarge made her college debut last Saturday in a 15-4 Gulls win over Salve Regina. With the win, Robarge and the Gulls improved to 4-2 on the season.

Finally on the track, Colby-Sawyer junior Courtney Figucia competed for the Chargers at the Wesleyan

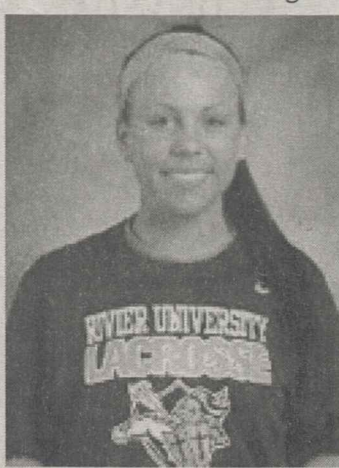

COURTNEY FIGUCIA

Track and Field Spring Break Invitational on Saturday and earned a 24th place finish in a field of 52 competitors in the 200 meter dash in a time of 30.12 seconds. Figucia also earned a 14th place finish in a field of 28 runners in the 400 meter dash in a time of 1:06.57.

TEWKSBURY

Starting with lacrosse, Rivier University freshman attack Taylor Lirakis (11-3-14) had two goals and an assist for the Raiders in a 19-5 win over Albertus Magnus last Saturday and followed that up with three goals and an assist in a 12-6 loss to Fitchburg State on Sunday.

Findlay University sophomore attack Melissa Peters (2-3-5) had a goal and an assist for the Oilers in a 20-4 win over Urbana on Monday, March 17.

Franklin Pierce senior midfielder Erik Kelly (8-3-11) had a goal in the Ravens 9-6 win over Assumption College last Saturday.

Franklin Pierce junior Dylan Leone had an assist for the Ravens in their 9-6 win over Assumption. Leone, a defender/long stick middle for the Ravens, also had two ground ball pickups in the win and his 20 ground ball pickups on the season lead the team.

Lasell sophomore defender Mike Pino had six ground ball pickups for the Lasers in an 11-3 win over Southwestern Texas on Monday, March 17, and had another ground ball pickup in a 12-4 win over Rivier this past Saturday. His 11 pickups on the season are tied for third on the team, despite his missing the Lasers first two games of the season.

Regis College freshman midfielder Brandon Hibner has been seeing plenty of playing time for the Pride early in his college career. Most recently, in a 13-1 win over Green Mountain College last Saturday, Hibner had two ground ball pickups to contribute to the victory for the Pride (4-1).

Tewksbury High is well represented with the Southern New Hampshire Men's Lacrosse team, with three former Redmen on the PenMen roster. Sophomore midfielder Zach Jacobs has played in five of the PenMen's six games on the season, while sophomore defender Matt Blaisdell has played in two.

Freshman goalie Mike Brawley has yet to see game action, backing up a veteran senior goalie for the PenMen.

In baseball, Colby-Sawyer senior catcher Rob Wallace had a pair of good games for the Chargers last week, going 1-for-3 with a walk and an RBI last Wednesday against Sewanee, and following that up by going 2-for-3 with a double, an RBI and a run scored the next day against Utica.

Rivier University junior pitcher Jonathan Chotkowski picked up the win for the Raiders in a 4-2 win over Gallaudet last Saturday. Chotkowski allowed one earned run and five hits over four innings, while striking out four to pick up his first win of the season.

For the season Chotkowski now boasts a 2.45 ERA with one win and one save, while striking out seven batters in 7 1/3 innings of work.

Curry College freshman outfielder John Cave has played in five games for the Colonels in the early going of his college career. Most recently he had a walk in the Colonels 7-3 win over Cairn College last week.

Salem State freshman shortstop Dom Rosado also seems to be adjusting well to the college game, having played in five of the Vikings nine games so far, starting three of them.

In a recent game against SUNY-Cortland Rosado went 2-for-5 with an RBI and a run scored.

Southern New Hampshire University sophomore catcher Cam Oliveira is batting .294 thus far on the season for the PenMen. Most recently he went 3-for-5 with an RBI and two runs scored in a 12-1 SNHU win over Merrimack last Saturday.

In softball action, Framingham State sophomore Tiffanie Marsh is off to a strong start to season, batting .323 thus far. Most recently, she was 1-for-3 with a home run in an 8-7 Rams win over the University of New England last Thursday.

Marsh, a pitcher and shortstop for the Rams, also picked up the win in that same game, tossing 4 1/3 innings of shutout ball, while allowing just three hits and striking out one batter.

Newbury College junior outfielder Sheri Liggiero had a big day for the Nighthawks in a doubleheader sweep of Wentworth last Friday. Liggiero was 1-for-4 with two walks and two runs scored in a 15-13 win in the first game, and was even better in the second game, going 1-for-3 with a walk, two RBI and three runs scored in an 18-8 victory.

Liggiero is second on the team with nine runs scored and six RBI's on the season.

Nichols College sophomore infielder Meghan Sears had a pair of big games for the Bison back on Monday, March 17. In the Bison's first game of the day against Alfred University Sears went 1-for-3 with a walk and an RBI during a 7-4 win. She followed that up later in the day by going 1-for-3 with a triple, an RBI and a run scored in a losing effort to St. Joseph's of Connecticut.

Salem State sophomore first baseman Katelyn Doherty went 3-for-3 with a double and a run scored for the Vikings in a recent win over St. Joseph's. On the season Doherty is now batting .286, while playing a stellar first base, boasting a perfect 1.000 fielding percentage with 38 put outs and no errors.

Worcester State freshman infielder Danielle Cacciola is off to a strong start to her college career, batting .357 in the early going of the season for the 7-1 Lancers. Cacciola also has two walks and two RBI's on the season.

Finally, in spring track news, UMass Lowell freshman Jess Amedee earned a 21st place finish in a field of 43 competitors in the 100 meter hurdles in a time of 15.85 seconds at the Alan Connie Shamrock Invitational Track and Field Meet at Coastal Carolina University.

UMass Lowell senior Richard Kirby competed at the same meet and earned a fourth place finish in a field of 28 runners in the 400 meter hurdles in a time of 55.55 seconds. Also, sophomore John Fiorello, who placed 22nd in a field of 45 competitors in the javelin throw with a distance of 48.18 meters.

Franklin Pierce freshman Peter Murray competed for the Ravens in the Alan Connie Shamrock Invitational Track and Field Meet, earning a 44th place finish in a field of 51 competitors in the hammer throw with a distance of 28.15 meters.

PRO HOCKEY

Wilmington's Joe Pendenza scored the only goal of the game for the Milwaukee Admirals last Friday night in a 3-1 loss to the Grand Rapids. With 11 games left in the season Pendenza (8-6-14) and the Admirals have a 32-24-5 record and are in seventh place in the Western Conference with 73 points, four points ahead of the Hamilton Bulldogs for one of the final two playoff spots in the conference.

Tewksbury's Patrick Cullity continues to shine as a defenseman for the Idaho Steelheads, the ECHL affiliate of the Dallas Stars. Last Saturday Cullity had a pair of assists to help lead the Steelheads to a 4-3 win over the Colorado Eagles (Calgary Flames) in a battle for first place in the Pacific Division of the Western Conference.

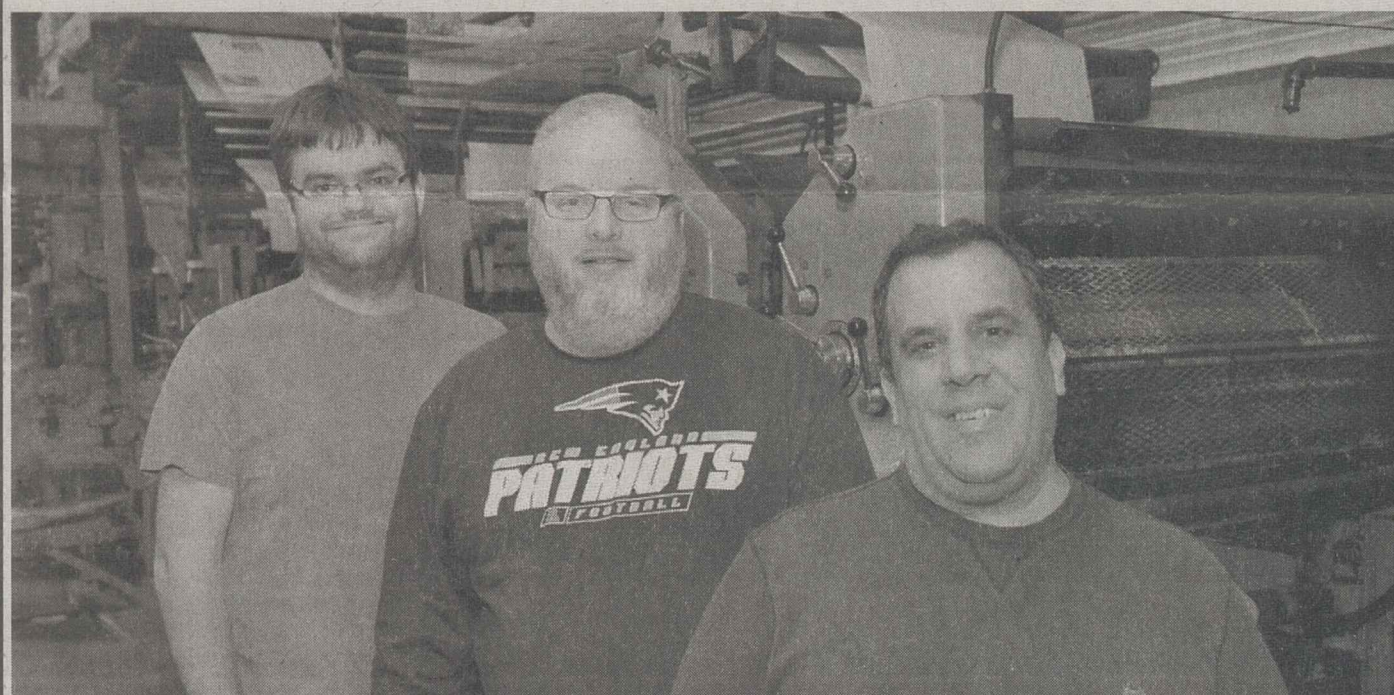

Cullity now has two goals and 13 assists on the season for 15 points, and he is second on the team with a plus/minus of +21.

ROAD RACE RESULTS

At the Annual Ayer Police St. Paddy's Day Foot Pursuit 5K back on March 15, Wilmington resident Tessa Callahan was the top female finisher in her age bracket and second female finisher overall while also finishing seventh in the entire field with a time of 21:44. Also, of Wilmington, John Callahan finished in a time of 30:01.

Six Tewksbury residents took part in the Cupids Chase 5K in Wakefield last Saturday. The top local finisher was Jill LeBlanc, who finished in a time of 34:14, followed by Marcia Vitale in 35:44, Kevin LeBlanc in 36:10, Helen Altavesta (37:57), Keith Taverna (43:04) and Kimberly Taverna (43:50).

The #1 Sports Team in Tewksbury and Wilmington

The Town Crier Sports Department prides itself on being the best weekly sports section, not only in the two towns of Wilmington and Tewksbury, but in the entire state. No other weekly sports section covers every high school varsity athletic team like we do for WHS, TMHS and Shawsheen Tech. No other weekly newspaper covers local college and professional athletes like we do, as well as give coverage to road races, adult sports, and provide pages of youth sports in both towns every week.

The Town Crier provides accurate, insightful, and indepth coverage of all local teams and hard-working athletes every week, and has done so for the past five decades. The Sports Department of Jamie Pote, Mike Ippolito and Brendan Foley pride themselves on not only being the Sports Faces of both Wilmington and Tewksbury, but telling great stories about the athletes of these two terrific towns.

Wilmington and Tewksbury Sports Announcements

WILMINGTON LL PARADE

Wilmington Little League will kick off the 2015 season with a Parade of Players and Opening Day Ceremonies on Saturday April 18th, when the Little League Parade steps off from the Town Common at 9:30 am.

The on-field ceremonies will take place at Rotary Park and will include introductions of special guests, ceremonial first pitch by two Wilmington Veterans plus the singing of the National Anthem. The Lowell Spinners mascot Canagator will also be on hand. All parade participants will receive a hot dog and drink provided with the assistance of the Wilmington Kiwanis Club.

This year over 500 local players will participate in baseball and softball games within Wilmington Little League's different divisions. More than 100 managers, coaches and parents will volunteer their time supporting our program.

Following the ceremonies, the season will get under way when the Tigers take on the Orioles in Little League Major Division action.

For more information visit our website at www.wilmingtonlitleleague.org

Wilmington Little League invites the community to bring their old baseball and softball equipment to a drive on April 4, 2015 from 10 AM-2 PM at the parking lot of Presidential Park, 314 Main Street, Wilmington. Have a bat, glove, helmet, cleats or other equipment that is taking up space? We'll take it!

Gloves, bats and cleats still in good condition will be made available to Wilmington players on opening day, which is scheduled for April 18th.

All other equipment will be donated to Roberto's Kids, an organization that gets equipment to baseball and softball teams in the United States, Canada and Latin America that would not otherwise have access to baseball and softball equipment.

For more information on Wilmington Little League, including sponsorship opportunities for the upcoming spring season, visit us at www.wilmington-littleleague.org.

REDCATS TRYOUTS

The RedCats Girls Hockey program has announced its tryout dates for the 2015-'16 season. All tryouts will be held at the Janas Arena in Lowell.

For U10 and U12 Age Bracket (Birth years of 2003 to 2007) the tryouts will be held on March 28th at 4:50 pm, and March 29th at 4:00 pm.

For U14 and U16/U18 (half season team) and birth years of 1997 to 2002) the tryouts will be held on March 28th at 5:50 pm and March 29th at 5:00 pm.

Please register at www.tysaredmen.com prior to tryouts. Nonrefundable registration fee of $250 will be applied to next year's bill. Any questions, please contact Herb Post at: headcoach@tysaredmen.com.

The Tewksbury/Wilmington Girls U14 Red Cats played inspired hockey and shutout the first place Norwood Nuggets 4-0 at Nashoba's Olympia Arena.

A hard fought first period ended scoreless, with both teams playing end to end hockey and getting great goaltending performances.

The Red Cats broke through in the second period with Gina Bertolami getting two goals, the first being the result of a great feed from Payton Fuller. She lit the lamp again a few minutes later on a rebound of a shot by Diana Riley.

The Red Cats got tremendous hustle in the offensive zone from Diana Riley, Payton Fuller, Gina Bertolami, Erin Carter, Meredith Chase, Erin Green, Kendra Previoso and Sam Burke.

Gina Bertolami's hot hand continued when she got the hat trick later in 2nd the period. Meghan Forbes scored early in the 3rd period, with a blistering slapshot, thanks to a great face off win from Erin Carter to make it 4-0.

Red Cats goalie Melanie Hayden was lights out, making huge saves, in earning the shutout.

The team also got stout defense from Meghan Forbes, Alianna Sampson, Charlotte Grant, Bridget O'Shea and Emma Surette.

WYLA 10-YR PARTY

TYSL GOLF OUTING

Tewksbury Youth Soccer League has announced that

Over the weekend of March 14th, the New England Youth Wrestling Championships were held in Reading Ma. All the competitors have to Place in their individual State Championships to be eligible for the New England Event. There were over 700 competitors with 14 weight classes for each grade level 3-8. The top six competitors from each weight class of 32 competitors place in the New England's. Brian Gallucci (bottom left) a 6th grade 81-pound Wilmington Wrestler competed on Saturday winning three of his matches by pin and placed sixth.

its second annual Golf Outing Tournament will be held on Monday, May 11th at the beautiful Trull Brook Golf Course in Tewksbury.

The event will begin at 7:30 with coffee and pastry before the shotgun start is slated at 8:00 am. The cost for this event is only $110.00 per person or $400.00 for a foursome (36 teams maximum). The price includes entry to all events, 18 holes of golf, riding cart, lunch and raffles. There are also corporate advertising opportunities available online.

The format is shotgun start, best ball. Golf attire is required - collared shirts and slacks. No steel spikes are allowed on the course.

There will be an awards presentation once the last group arrives back at the clubhouse. There will be a longest drive and closest to the pin contest.

The reason for this tour-namment is our TYSL Field need help. The years of constant play and the size of our program has taken a toll on the fields. The funds raised by this golf event will go directly toward improving the TYSL Fields.

To help us properly plan for this event, please register by going to: www.tewksburyyouthsoccer.org. If you have questions, contact Tom Porzio, Tournament Director of TYSL at: tom.porzio@verizon.net.

TYSL SCHOLARSHIPS

The Tewksbury Youth Soccer Association is offering scholarship opportunities to graduating seniors who are Tewksbury residents, have been involved with TYSL for at least five years, and are in good academic standings. Applicants can find the application on the Tewksbury Youth Soccer website under league documents. All applicants must submit letters of recommendations, an essay, application and transcript. All applications are due postmarked by April 1, 2015.

TGBL SCHOLARSHIPS

Tewksbury Girls Basketball League (TGBL) is once again offering scholarships to graduating high school seniors. Girls who have participated in our league are eligible to apply. Award amounts are based on the level of the girl's involvement in the league, other volunteer and extracurricular activities and academic standing. Applications are available on our website www.tgbl.org on the "Forms" page and must be postmarked by March 31st.

Both 5A and 6A Girls teams win Tournament Titles

5A Girls

The Tewksbury Girls 5A Travel Team wins the North Andover March Madness Tournament that was held this past week.

Tewksbury went undefeated in the tournament and beat Tyngsboro in the final Championship game 20-16. The girls played their hearts out until the final buzzer. Great team effort by all. This game caps off a great season which also includes a third place finish in 5th Grade Division 1.

6A Girls

The Tewksbury Girls 6A Travel team finished a strong season with a convincing Championship win at the North Andover March Madness Tournament.

The girls swept their three first round games with victories over Methuen, Lowell, and North Andover, and went on to defeat Lowell in the Championship game 40-24.

Affordable Care Act -

Thousands can still get covered

By MARK CLIFFORD
Commonwealth News Service

BOSTON - It's true the door shut on the second open enrollment period for health coverage under the Affordable Care Act, but advocates say there are still opportunities for thousands in the Bay State to get covered.

Senior policy analyst at Health Care For All Suzanne Curry says special enrollment is still available for many folks who for one reason or the other missed the deadline, or for those who recently lost coverage.

"When your coverage ends you have 60 days in order to get through the process of applying and selecting a plan," says Curry. "If for whatever reason you became uninsured or if you are uninsured now is a good time to go in and get coverage."

Special enrollment can be done on-line, by phone and even by stopping by your nearest community health center.

Maria Gonzalez communications director with Health Care For All says they are reaching out in both Spanish and Portuguese in communities like Worcester and Lawrence, where a significant percentage of Hispanic residents missed the open enrollment deadline.

"We have a high concentration of people from Puerto Rico, high concentration of people from the Dominican Republic," says Gonzalez. "They might not understand what it takes or that they can actually lose coverage a lot of these people have lost coverage already."

At the Massachusetts Health Connector, director of communications, Commonwealth Health Connector Jason Lefferts says many people can still get coverage by spending a couple minutes on-line.

"The best and easiest way is to go to the website, which is mahealthconnector.org," says Lefferts. "They fill out one application and find out right away if they belong to Mass health or the Health Connector."

Lefferts says they want to prevent situations where uncovered people don't go to the doctor or end up in an emergency with a big bill. Help by phone is available at 877-623-6765.

North Reading pair take two of College Hockey's Highest Honors

By PAUL FEELY

It's been a historic handful of days for hockey in North Reading, as two players hailing from the 01864 zip code won top national and regional awards.

North Reading's Alex Carpenter, a junior forward from Boston College, received the 2015 Patty Kazmaier Memorial Award Saturday, before a capacity crowd at the McNamara Alumni Center on the campus of the University of Minnesota. The award, in its 18th year, is presented annually to the top player in NCAA Division I women's ice hockey by The USA Hockey Foundation.

On Tuesday, Gridiron Club of Greater Boston

president Jim Kearney announced that Harvard junior center Jimmy Vesey, also of North Reading, as the winner of the 63rd Walter Brown Award, presented annually to the best American-born college hockey player in New England.

Carpenter

Carpenter was chosen for the honor from a group of Top-3 finalists that included junior forward Hannah Brandt (Vadnais Heights, Minn./University of Minnesota) and senior forward Marie-Philip Poulin (Beauceville, Que./Boston University).

The Patty Kazmaier Memorial Award is presented annually to the top player in NCAA Division I women's ice hockey. Other selection criteria include outstanding individual and team skills, sportsmanship, performance in the clutch, personal character, competitiveness and a love of hockey.

"A lot of hard work is needed on and off the ice, and to be able to represent Boston College by winning the Patty Kazmaier Award is unbelievable," Carpenter said. "I'm excited for my teammates, as well; this is a team award in my opinion. I'm also honored to be the first Patty Kazmaier winner from BC and proud to represent the University on this stage."

"Alex is as dynamic of a player as there is in college hockey," said Katie King Crowley, head coach at Boston College. "Her passion and love for the game of hockey are immeasurable. Alex makes everyone around her better with her intensity, her work ethic, and her desire to help her team to win. She is not only an offensive threat, but is an all around threat whether it's on the penalty kill or in the defensive zone. Alex is a leader for our team with her ability to compete at such a high level consistently. I feel very fortunate to be able to coach Alex, as she has been extremely valuable in changing the landscape Boston College hockey."

Born in 1994, Alexandra "Alex" Carpenter will be just 21 years old in April 2015, but she's already had an illustrious ice hockey career. Born in North Reading, Alex moved with her family to Morristown, New Jersey as a child.

She is the daughter of former NHL player Bobby Carpenter who played 18 seasons at the NHL level, including four seasons for the Boston Bruins. By her middle school years, Alex was following firmly in her father's footsteps.

She attended high school at The Governor's Academy, in South Byfield, Massachusetts, where she played for USA Hockey, the governing body of amateur level hockey, in a program for high school girls called the "U18" program - for players under 18.

In the fall of 2013 Alex headed for Boston College to skate with the Boston College Eagles women's ice hockey program.

"It's a great moment for Alex and a great moment for our program," Crowley said. "I'm really proud of who Alex is, the player that she is and what she's done for our program. It's truly awesome moment for Alex and the Boston College hockey program."

Carpenter earns the Kazmaier after dominating the college hockey scene upon her return from earning a Silver medal with the U.S. Women's National Team in the 2014 Sochi Winter Olympics.

This season, Carpenter led the nation in scoring with a career-high and Boston College single-season record 81 points in 37 games (2.19 points per game). Her 37 goals and 44 assists also lead the country in both categories, and she holds the national lead in game-win-

Awards to S-4

NORTH READING'S ALEX CARPENTER (above) AND JIMMY VESEY (right) have been chosen for two of college hockey's highest honors. The Boston College and Harvard hockey standouts have both had stellar seasons with their respective teams.

Movie Reviews

"Insurgent"

by Paul Feely

IN "INSURGENT" TRIS (SHAILENE WOODLEY), AND HER SIDEKICK FOUR (THEO JAMES), return for the much anticipated sequel to last year's "Divergent". Based on the popular young adult novel by Veronica Roth, it has earned points for its examination of individuality, diversity, and expectations.

The best part of last year's "Divergent" was that the plot featured a social experiment of dividing people according to their natural virtues. The film, based on the popular young adult novel by Veronica Roth, earned points for its examination of individuality, diversity and expectations.

The character of Tris (Shailene Woodley) served as the lightning rod for those who rejected this system. She wasn't the strongest female hero to appear onscreen, but made a stand for what she believed.

In the sequel, "The Divergent Series: Insurgent," Tris is reduced to a bystander who occasionally gets to fight as part of an effort to open a box that holds the key to humanity's future.

At the end of the first film, Tris, and her sidekick Four (Theo James), foe Peter (Miles Turner) and brother Caleb (Ansel Elgort) were on the run. They end up in a hippie colony (run by Octavia Spencer) where love and peace are all that matter.

Then the screenplay shifts gear, morphing into a series of efforts to catch Tris because she's the key to opening the box. The fugitives make their way back to town and end up with the group known as Candor.

Thrown into the mix is a mysterious woman from Four's past - played by Naomi Watts - who could either be a help or hindrance for the group.

Director Robert Schwentke showcases a couple of big action scenes. Computer technology allows for visuals that look great. There's just nothing left when all the dust clears.

The action scenes aren't enough to distract from a script that is full of holes, illogical actions and a story that takes almost two hours to complete yet only moves things forward slightly. When the big finale comes, it's not exciting.

The biggest failing is how the character of Tris is reduced to supporting player. Even Theo James and Jai Courtney have more to do than Tris. At least their characters remain part of the main story.

Kate Winslet is far more interesting as the single-minded leader who wants to protect her divided world. She's a good contrast to what Watts brings to the production.

"CINDERELLA"

Six decades after Walt Disney's animated version of the Cinderella fairy tale became an instant classic, director Kenneth Branagh returns to the tale to create an equally timeless live-action adaptation. Branagh sprinkles shimmering glitterdust over the well-known storyline to create a rich film filled with elaborate settings and enchanting characters.

Despite being retold countless times, this appealing take on the tale follows the usual route only up to a point. After her beloved mother (Hayley Atwell) dies, Ella (Lily James) grits her teeth when her devastated merchant father (Ben Chaplin) remarries the snobbish Lady Tremaine (Cate Blanchett). After Ella's father passes away tragically, too, she finds herself relegated to the role of servant girl by her uncaring stepmother and spoilt, jealous daughters Anastasia (Holliday Grainger) and Drizella (Sophie McShera).

Writer Weitz then veers away from the traditional story here: Ella and her Prince Charming (Richard Madden) meet during a stag hunt in the woods where she believes he's an apprentice named Kit. It's because he wants to meet this mysterious stranger again that he opens up his ball to everyone in the kingdom. Other tweaks: Ella's stepmother learns the ball is a sham - she's overheard the Grand Duke (Stellan Skarsgard) say Kit has an arranged marriage to a Spanish princess - and she also finds the other glass slipper hidden in Ella's attic.

About the Towns

by Phyllis Nissen

STARS, BADGES, AND PEACE KEEPERS

Please check your local "Daily Times Chronicle" for daily updates.

PARTNERS, NOT CRIME (STONEHAM)

"Police Chief James McIntyre reports that the Stoneham Police Department ...assisted the administration of Stoneham High School with a canine search of the school building," notes the "Stoneham Independent."

"The request by Principal Donna Cargill was made to Sergeant Robert Kennedy, who is an assistant commander of NEMLEC's School Threat Assessment Response Team (S.T.A.R.S.), to help ensure a safe and drug-free learning environment."

"The search of the building was conducted at the same time the school administration practiced an emergency lock-down drill."

"Programs like lock-down drills help keep schools a safe and healthy learning environment, with minimal disruption in the school day, in the same way that fire drills have done so for many years," Chief McIntyre said. "At the same time, a police-school partnership, bringing in K-9 units helps make sure that drugs and weapons stay out of our schools, as they have no place there."

"The Stoneham Police Department was assisted by the Andover, Burlington, Saugus, and Tewksbury police departments who provided narcotics detection dogs. Thanks to the partnership between NEMLEC's STARS Team and the Massachusetts State Police, two canine teams from the Fire and Explosive Investigation Section also assisted in the search. These dogs provided an additional tool in detecting weapons or other dangerous items within the school."

"At the conclusion of the search, Chief McIntyre is pleased to report that no drugs or weapons were detected on school grounds."

DREAM TEAMMATE (WINCHESTER)

"Andy Perenick, founder and Broker/Owner of Berkshire Dream Home in Dalton and a former Winchester police officer, has been honored by the Dalton Police Department with the first ever Civilian Civil Service Award," notes the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The Dalton Select Board recently presented the award to Perenick for his exemplary work in neighborhood crime watching and his active involvement in helping Dalton police apprehend criminals."

"Dalton Police Chief Jeffrey Coe congratulated Perenick, a Winchester native, for his strong ties to the community and his willingness to foster relationships with the police and assist law enforcement on numerous occasions."

"His willingness to participate and cooperate is the exact type of community interaction my police officers welcome," said Coe. "The idea that a citizen is taking stock in both their community and the police to actively communicate matters is commendable; however, Andy has gone above and beyond."

"Coe cited two situations where Perenick reported criminal activity and actively provided information which led to arrests..."

"Perenick's father, Charlie, is a former Massachusetts state trooper and his brother Dan is currently a Sergeant with the Winchester Police Department..."

MISSION POSSIBLE (WILMINGTON)

"Middlesex County Sheriff Peter J. Koutoujian addressed members and guests of the Wilmington Rotary Club ..., providing an overview of the office and re-entry programs for inmates," notes the Wilmington "Town Crier."

"The Sheriff spoke about the history and mission of the Middlesex Sheriff's Office dating to 1692, and explained efforts to address the underlying factors that can contribute to criminal activity, including mental health and substance abuse problems, as well as lack of education. The Middlesex Sheriff's Office strives to help inmates address these issues through its Residential Substance Abuse Treatment (RSAT) - recognized by the federal Bureau of Justice Assistance (BJA) as a national mentor host site - as well as educational and vocational programs, including a successful culinary arts class.

"I want to thank the Wilmington Rotary Club for the opportunity to speak about the role the Middlesex Sheriff's Office plays in the public safety," said Sheriff Koutoujian. "It's important that we continue to have these kinds of conversations to inform the public about our efforts to help inmates return to the community healthier and more prepared to be productive citizens than when they were incarcerated."

The visit was the Sheriff's second to Wilmington in less than a month. Previously, inmates participating in the Community Work Program (CWP) assisted the Wilmington Building Department with show removal at the senior center.

SPORTS SHORTS

Middlesex East Sports Weekly Trivia: Who was the first female to appear as a player for a MLB team in a spring training game?

Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

The Massachusetts Maritime Academy Athletic Hall of Fame will welcome five new members this spring, as standouts in the sports of baseball and football, along with an icon of the institution's faculty, will be enshrined during ceremonies on campus on Saturday, May 30, 2015.

Among the inductees is Charles Harrow '79 was a standout in both baseball and football for Massachusetts Maritime, as he still holds the school single-season record for doubles after rapping out 15 two-baggers in 1978 to rank third nationally in that category.

An all-Massachusetts State Collegiate Athletic Conference performer as a junior, Harrow earned third team all-New England accolades during a 1979 season that saw him hit .448 while leading Head Coach Bob Corradi's squad to a 23-6 overall mark, a runner-up finish in MASCAC play and a berth in the ECAC Championships.

Harrow is a member of Massachusetts Maritime's career .300 club, as the former Buccaneer team Most Valuable Player sports a .380 career mark. On the gridiron, Harrow set a school record by completing 59 percent of his passing attempts during a junior campaign that saw the Buccaneers capture their first New England Football Conference crown, and he threw for a career-best 1,026 yards as a freshman in 1975.

The UMass Lowell baseball team split a doubleheader against Fairleigh Dickinson, winning 6-4 in the front end before dropping a 5-1 decision in the nightcap at Naimoli Family Baseball Complex.

The River Hawks and Knight both stand at 3-6 after the twin bill.

In the first game the River Hawks got on the board in the first when Matt Sanchez (Sunrise, Fla.) hit a leadoff double to center before Danny Mendick (Rochester, N.Y.) reached on a fielders choice and stole second. Matt Mottola (Newburyport, Mass.) brought them home with a 2-RBI single to left before coming home on a double to center by Tyler Noe (Lynnfield, Mass.). After Joe Consolmagno (Worcester, Mass.) drew a walk Brice Erickson (Leominster, Mass.) ripped a single up the middle to bring Noe around and give the River Hawks a 4-0 edge.

Junior distance runner Mark Hegarty (Springfield, Mass.) turned in a strong performance in the 3,000 meter steeplechase as UMass Lowell opened the outdoor season at the Alan Connie Shamrock Invitational Track and Field Meet hosted by Coastal Carolina University, at Doug Shaw Stadium.

"I was really pleased with the week," said Head Coach Gary Gardner. "I liked the work we did, there was a total buy in from our athletes."

The competition was almost of secondary importance for a track and field program that has battled through a long winter of snow that has severely limited outdoor training. The River Hawks turned the spring break week into an intense week of training with an eye toward results when the season hits its later stages and the northeast temperatures climb. The mercury during the training week resided in the 60s and lower 70s.

UMass Lowell also got a couple of strong performances in the 400 meter hurdles. Senior Cameron Mitchell (Wakefield, Mass.) took tenth place with a time of 54.78-seconds and senior Richard Kirby (Tewksbury, Mass.) finished 14th in 55.55.

Need some help with the trivia question? She played for the Philadelphia Athletics.

The UMass Lowell softball team wrapped up the Michele Smith Spring Break Tournament with an 8-1 loss against Northern Illinois in Clearwater.

"I thought we played tough and had great energy all weekend," said Head Coach Danielle Henderson. "There were a lot of teachable moments that we can take with us and improve on for our conference games."

Senior Ally Greene (Tewksbury, Mass.) and junior Emilia Davies (Parker, Colo.) logged hits for the River Hawks in the outing, while Greene accounted for the team's lone run. Junior Marielle Handley (Durham, Conn.) took the loss in the circle with four innings of work. Sophomore Erica Armenti (Shrewsbury, Mass.) was called in to finish the game, allowing just one run.

UMass Lowell got on the board in the top of the first when Greene got things started with a bunt single. She advanced on a sacrifice bunt by sophomore Tori Alcorn (Lowell, Mass.) before scoring unearned on an error by the opposing shortstop, making the score 1-0.

Answer to THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: On March 20, 1934, Mildred (Babe) Didrikson-Zaharias, the noted multi-sport female athlete, pitched the first inning for the Philadelphia Athletics in a spring training exhibition game against the Brooklyn Dodgers, giving up one walk but no hits. Two days later she pitched one inning for the St. Louis Cardinals against the Boston Red Sox. In addition to her baseball exploits, she was a 1932 Olympic Games track & field star, as well as an expert basketball player, golfer, hurdler, high jumper, swimmer, javelin thrower, football halfback, bi-liardist, weight lifter, fencer, boxer, wrestler, and dancer.

DO YOU KNOW SOMETHING WE DON'T? If you have information about a local athlete that you would like to see appear in this column, please email it to readingchronicle@comcast.net, or mail it to: Paul Feely, Middlesex East Sports, 531 Main Street, Reading, Ma., 01867, or call Paul at 781-944-2200.

Carpenter's 81 points is the highest point total in all of Division I ice hockey this year - women or men. With her 71st point against sixth-ranked Boston University on February 21, Carpenter broke her own BC single-season points record, which she set in 2012-13 with 70 points.

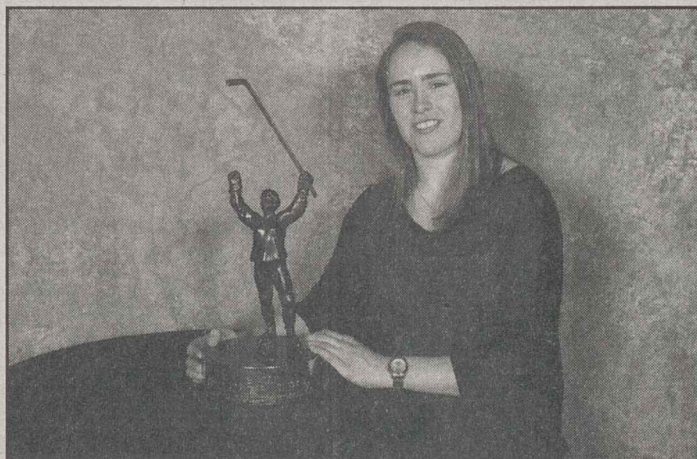

She established a program record with a 25-game point streak that ran from October 4 through February 3, during which time she amassed 62 points.

Carpenter recorded 26 multi-point games this season, including 16 games in which she tallied at least three points.

In addition to earning Hockey East Player of the Week honors four times (December 15, January 19 and February 16, March 16), Carpenter was named WHEA Player of the Month in October and November. She also won Hockey East Player of the Year and garnered AHCA All-America First Team honors.

Carpenter powered the Eagles to their best-ever record (34-3-2) and a program-first number one ranking, a position the team held from November until the postseason. The junior assistant captain helped BC go undefeated in Hockey East regular-season action - 20-0-1 - the league's first undefeated team since 2007-08. Boston College went 28 games undefeated to open the season, including a program-best 25-game winning streak, before suffering their only loss on February 10.

Anchored by Carpenter's offensive prowess, the Eagles led the nation in scoring, averaging 5.00 goals per game - half of a goal more than the second-best team - and scoring margin (3.79 goals per game).

Carpenter, a silver medalist with Team USA at the 2014 Sochi Olympics, was recently named alternate captain for Team USA when they compete in the 2015 IIHF Women's World Championship in Malmö, Sweden, March 28 through April 4. It will be Carpenter's second appearance at the women's world championship tournament.

Vesey

The Walter Brown Award is handed out to New England's best American-born Division I college hockey player, and Jimmy Vesey is the 11th Harvard hockey player to win the award, and the first since Dov Grumet-Morris in 2005. It is the nation's oldest nationally-recognized college hockey honor.

Vesey finished first in the final balloting just ahead of Boston University freshman Jack Eichel (North Chelmsford, MA).

Vesey earns the award after winning both the ECAC and Ivy League Player of the Year awards, and was a first team all-league selection in both the ECAC and Ancient Eight. The winger paces the country in goals (31) and goals per game (0.86) and is second nationally in points per game (1.58). He was also selected to the ECAC All-Academic Team.

"Jimmy is a great player who has had a tremendous season. He has been incredibly consistent offensively, leading the country in goals scored, and has been relied upon in all key situations," said Harvard head coach Ted Donato. "Jimmy has also established himself as a team leader both on and off the ice. He is very deserving of this prestigious award and we are very proud of him."

Vesey led Harvard to victory at the ECAC Tournament with a tournament-record nine postseason goals, and to its first NCAA Tournament Appearance since 2006.

Harvard will take on Nebraska-Omaha in South Bend, Indiana, at the Compton Family Ice Arena on Saturday, March 28 at 7:30 p.m. The game will be telecast live on ESPN3 and via the WatchESPN app.

Buffalo Wings

Enjoy the spicy flavors of these chicken drumettes - appetizer ready in 50 minutes.

1) In deep fryer or 3-quart heavy saucepan, heat oil to 375°F.

2) In 1-gallon resealable food-storage plastic bag, mix flour, paprika, red pepper, and salt. Add chicken, seal bag and shake until chicken is coated with flour.

3) Fry chicken in batches (to avoid over crowding) about 10 minutes each or until brown and no longer pink in center. Drain on paper towels.

4) Meanwhile, in 1-quart saucepan combine butter, pepper sauce, black pepper and garlic powder; cook over medium-high heat, 3 to 5 minutes, stirring occasionally, until butter is melted and mixture is blended.

5) In large bowl, toss chicken with butter mixture until completely coated.

Expert Tips

* Serve these spicy wings with blue cheese dressing and celery sticks.

* Fry wings up to 8 hours ahead of time, store in refrigerator just until ready to serve. To serve, heat oven to 450°F. On an ungreased 15x10 x1-inch baking sheet place chicken. Bake 6 to 8 minutes, or until thoroughly heated. Toss with pepper sauce mixture.

Boston Metro Hi-Railers spring open house

On Saturday April 11th, in Wilmington

The Boston Metro Hi-Railers Train Club, located at 5 Waltham Street will be having the open house at its large display that has been in process of development over the past 4 years. It has some exacting additions and will be displaying some new passenger cars and freight cars operating on its layout. The layout is the largest club layout in Massachusetts.

The club will be running Milwaukee Road, Boston and Maine sets, commuter rail sets, a New Haven ABA pas-hours are from 10:00 am to 4 p.m. Refreshments will be available but are not included in the entrance fee

Contact Bob Hilliard
781-944-1794

The club is also offering a new program for children outlined below.

In a first of its kind program, the club will be offering a layout construction program to teach children the art of building train layouts. The number for the first program will be limited. They will be working as a group on this senger set, the Flying Yankee and several interesting earlier Lionel models all the way back to the 1930's

The club has been working hard to upgrade the children's layouts, always a popular item at our open houses. Children are allowed to operate the trains themselves with adult supervision. We have added switch track and new operating accessories. We have log loaders, barrel loaders, a saw mill, lamp lighter among others.

The club will also have a lion chief plus on the children's layout. This is the new remote control engine just released by Lionel. It is at a much reduced cost as part of Lionel effort encourages families and children to participate in the hobby.

Entrance fees remain the same. $10 for families $5. For singles, and children fewer than 10 free when accompanied by adult. The event project and the club will be providing the materials free of charge.

Club member Donald Green, a retired doctor will be directing the program. Dr. Green outlines what he will be directing in a statement released by the club.

Dr. Green says "The club is seeking to encourage model railroading for young people, boys and girls, starting at the 3rd grade age level and going up. This will be an excellent opportunity for school aged children to really get involved in model railroading. Members of the club are the most informed experts about O gauge trains (Lionel sized trains). The members of the club have a variety of skills that that were used to develop the club layout. This includes electrical and software engineers, architects, carpenters, and members who are involved and experienced in setting up their own layouts at home. Several are MIT graduates and have been involved in model railroading for several years with their own children. We will be putting together full hands on program to take 6 children to teach them about design first, and have they put together a layout over six, one and a half to two hour sessions. An adult will have to accompany the participants.

You can sign up at the club, a club open house or at www.bmhrc.com. If this first effort is successful, we will be repeating the program for more groups, so if your children don't make the initial program, later ones will be available. The program will be scheduled for a weekend day. The club will supply all the material free of charge, though we might be asking for a very modest donation so that others may participate later. This will be for a layout at the club that they can come and run trains on. This does not include a take home layout for each child that they can take home with them, but they can get the materials themselves and repeat the layout at home, if the families wish. We will be providing layout diagrams of the layout designs for home use.

The program will take place at the club's facility, 5 Waltham Street, Wilmington.

April 11th, at the Stoneham Middle School

Everyone is invited to Chamber's free Health & Wellness Expo

Everyone is invited to the Stoneham Chamber's FREE Health & Wellness Expo, Saturday, April 11 from 9am to 1pm at the brand new Stoneham Middle School gymnasium. This year's Expo, title sponsored by Stop & Shop, will begin alongside the huge indoor yard sale presented by the 1982 SHS Beautification Fund inside the Middle School cafeteria.

Over 40 exhibitors to date will be on hand to introduce their businesses and answer questions from 9am to 1pm. Many will have FREE goodies and giveaways, as well as one-time discounts and introductory offers for their products and services.

Many exhibitors will also provide complimentary health screenings such as blood sugar and blood pressure, vein and bone density screenings, massages, jump testing, sporting equipment demonstrations, Physical Therapist led stretching exercises, etc., and other interactive activities for children and adults.

Attendees will want to be sure to visit these exhibitors with their "Passport to Health" that they will receive at the entrance to the Expo. Completion of the "Passport to Health" enters the attendee in the prize drawings at the conclusion of the Expo. Attendees do not need to be present to win.

For more information about the Expo, including what this years exhibitors to date will be, please call the Chamber at (781) 438-0001.

New openings are coming to MarketStreet Lynnfield this month

This spring will be one to remember at MarketStreet Lynnfield

MarketStreet Lynnfield is proud to announce the opening of the first three, of many new businesses. Tuck's Candy Factory, of Rockport fame, opened in February, followed by Hanna Andersson and Gap, which opened earlier this month, "We have had an incredible response from the community since we opened nearly 20 months ago," said Nanci Horn, General Manager of MarketStreet Lynnfield. "2015 promises to bring even more unique boutiques, national brands and restaurants to MarketStreet Lynnfield," she added. The shopping experience at MarketStreet Lynnfield will be enhanced with the addition of: Pottery Barn Kids, Banana Republic, Pia, Gaslight, Wahlburgers, Sweetgreen, Charming Charlie, Tobey Grey, NIKE, Eddie Bauer, Lucky Brand and Muse Paint Bar and Claire's.

Hanna Andersson has been dressing kids in happiness since 1983. This European brand uses organic cotton and fabrics to make their high quality clothing that give kids freedom to explore, play, get dirty and be little without the struggles of feeling squished or scratchy.

Gap is one of the world's most iconic apparel and accessories brands and the authority on American casual style. Gap's collections are designed to build the foundation of modern wardrobes

Pottery Barn Kids provides casual furnishings, textiles, toys & accessories designed to delight and inspire the imagination.

Banana Republic is focused on delivering modern American style. Dedicated to helping customers achieve their best in life's moments big and small, both personally and professionally. Banana Republic offers covetable clothing, handbags, jewelry, eyewear and fragrance at accessible prices.

Pia is a women's clothing boutique, formerly in Salem, MA, with offerings that share the joy in celebration of women, their common strengths, challenges, bliss and their perfect imperfections. Pia believes women should feel the freedom in celebrating that which they have been gifted, be true to themselves and express that joy by clothing themselves in what comforts them and what tells their story.

Gaslight, the latest addition to the Aquitaine Groups line up of restaurants, will provide fine casual dining in a 7,000 square foot space. The Aquitaine Group's restaurants are widely recognized as among the very best in the city of Boston and have garnered awards and accolades from local and national publications.

Wahlburgers - With unique burger recipes and custom cocktails (wahlcoctions), it's easy to see why the Wahlberg brothers have their A&E reality shows! If you wanna have a good time at a fun burger restaurant in Lynnfield, MA, make your way to Wahlburgers, where the fun never stops!

Sweetgreen The choices made every day about what to eat, where it comes from and how it was raised have powerful consequences on the health of individuals, communities and the planet. From this idea, Sweetgreen developed the guidelines that dictate how they source their ingredients and prepare your food.

Charming Charlie At Charming Charlie, when it comes to accessories, they believe if it feels good, do it, and if it looks good, do it in every color it comes in. If fashion is fun, then accessories are definitely the life of the party! Tobey Grey provides the most current, high-end, affordable luxury styles for men and women. Offering a collection of their TOBEY GREY private brand; as well as brands such as Joe's Jeans, Olivaceous, Rag&Bone, Feel the Piece, Iro and DL1961. Their TOBEY GREY brand is a proprietary, prominent, and contemporary brand known for its quality, affordability and everyday luxury style.

NIKE is the world's leading designer, marketer and distributor of authentic athletic footwear, apparel, equipment and accessories for a wide variety of sports and fitness activities.

Eddie Bauer is the original outdoor outfitters. In conjunction with innovative design and exceptional customer service, Eddie Bauer offers premium-quality clothing, accessories and gear for men and women that complement today's modern outdoor lifestyle.

Lucky Brand jeans are made for the free-thinker, the artist, the dreamer; they're made to dance, work, run, jump, play and rock 'n' roll. Their inspiration doesn't just come from the rugged work wear of denim pioneers, but from the free spirit and laid-back lifestyle of our Southern California roots.

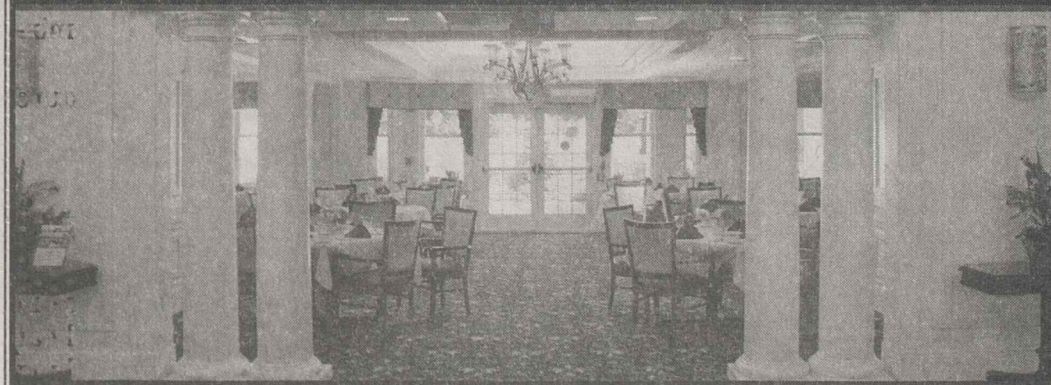

Muse Paint Bar: Get creative. Uncork your muse. They'll teach the session's painting and serve wine, beer, & bites to feed your muse. Great for girls' nights out, dates, birthdays, and more! No art experience needed.

Claire's is one of the world's leading specialty retailers of fashionable jewelry and accessories for young women, teens, tweens and kids.

MarketStreet Lynnfield is the North Shore's largest open-air shopping destination spanning 395,000 square feet. Anchored by Whole Foods Market and Kings Bowl America. MarketStreet Lynnfield tempts the palate with dining options such as Davio's Northern Italian Steakhouse, Legal C Bar, Yard House, Temazcal Tequila Cantina, Fugakyu Japanese Cuisine, and many more. Keeping the family and the home looking great are exciting retailers like Sephora, lululemon athletica, J. Crew, LOFT, Shoe Market, Pottery Barn, Athleta, White House | Black Market and Williams-Sonoma to name a few. MarketStreet Lynnfield was developed and leased in a partnership between leading Massachusetts commercial developers National Development and WS Development. For more information about exciting events and retailer announcements, please visit www.marketstreetlynnfield.com; join the e-club or follow on social media: Facebook: MarketStreetLynnfield; Instagram: @marketstreetlynnfield; Twitter: @Shop_MarketSt.

ABOUT WS DEVELOPMENT: One of the largest privately owned retail development firms in the United States, WS Development develops, owns, manages and leases an extensive portfolio of over 85 properties totaling more than 20 million square feet with an additional 4 million square feet under development. SPECIAL

Prayers 9010

ST. Jude Novena
May the Sacred Heart of Jesus be adored, glorified, loved, and served throughout the world now and forever. Sacred Heart of Jesus, pray for us. St. Jude, help of the hopeless, pray for us.
Say this prayer 9 times a day for 9 days. By the 8th day your prayer will be answered. It has never been known to fail. Publication must be promised.
Holy Saint Jude, Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need. To you I have recourse from the depths of my heart and humbly beg you to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. (Say 3 Our Fathers, 3 Hail Marys and 3 Glory Be, to the Father for 9 consecutive days. Publication must be promised.) Pray for us who invoke your aid. Amen.
(This Novena has never been known to fail.)
My prayers have been answered.

Local C21 multi-award winning realtor recognized for her hard work

Local Realtor, Kimberly O'Neil Mara of Century 21 Spindler & O'Neil has once again earned the Century 21 National President's Producer Award, the Centurion Producer Award, and the Quality Pinnacle Award for customer service for 2014.

Century 21 President & CEO, Rick Davidson told Kimberly, "It is a privilege to congratulate you on achieving the prestigious 2014 Century 21 President's Producer Award." The President's Producer Award is presented to an elite group of individuals that have achieved both the CENTURION levels of production and the Quality Service Pinnacle Award in the same year.

The CENTURY 21 CENTURION Award is a symbol of excellence earned by a small group of Century 21 sales professionals. Davidson went on to say, "You truly personify the meaning of a SMARTER. BOLDER. FASTER. agent. I am proud to have you as a member of the Century 21 System."

The Quality Service Pinnacle Award is given to agents who provide commitment and dedication to their customers. Davidson concluded, "I applaud your commit-

Four of the five largest providers — including Manulife and MetLife — have either scaled back their business or stopped selling new policies, according to Moody's. The largest provider, Genworth Financial, continues to offer them, yet has struggled under the weight of rising costs.

The trends behind the industry's troubles sound like good news outside the world of insurance. Older Americans are healthier and living longer. But that makes it difficult for the industry to turn a profit. Stays in nursing homes tend to last longer, so insurers have to pay out more in benefits than they had planned.

For older Americans and their families, however, there are few options besides private insurance. Medicare doesn't cover nursing home stays except in certain circumstances. The Obama Administration had planned to make a long-term insurance program part of the Affordable Care Act but eventually abandoned it.

Sean Dargan, an analyst at Macquarie Group, an Australia-based investment bank, expects to see more people turning to Medicaid, the government's health insurance for the poor, to cover the costs of care.

"It could really blow a hole through state budgets," he says. "I think states and the federal government are going to need to think creatively to find a way out of this."

access is also located at this juncture, as is a stairway to the second floor.

The living room expands out from the entry, and is open to the kitchen across a raised eating bar. An optional TV cabinet fits in nicely along the living room's inner wall.

Range and oven are built into the kitchen's longest counter. Sink and dishwasher are next to each other behind the eating bar, a handy spot to hang out and chat with people working in the kitchen. A small pantry fills the niche next to a refrigerator with overhead cabinets. The nook is naturally bright on all but the darkest days, and its wide sliding glass doors open onto a covered patio, which could be screened.

A vaulted ceiling expands the main floor bedroom, which has direct patio access and links to the bathroom. Two more bedrooms are upstairs, along with another full bathroom. A wide dormer expands the front bedroom in both units of the Braydon.

Braydon a duplex that's full of features

The Braydon is a charming, two-story duplex that packs a lot of living area into a fairly narrow footprint. Entry porches and rear patios are widely separated, for maximum privacy. Each unit has three bedrooms.

Four gables face the street. The widest caps both garages, while the narrower front gable highlights the extended garage on the left. Twin gables accent the matching dormers, set further back on the main roof.

Inside, the two units are mirror images, so one description will suffice. Entry is via a recessed porch bounded by a slender post. A coat closet is just inside, near the door to the utility room. Direct garage

Nursing home costs are soaring

Thirty years ago, insurance companies had the answer to the soaring cost of caring for the elderly. Plan ahead and buy a policy that will cover your expenses.

Now, there's a new problem: Even insurers think it's unaffordable.

Life insurance firms pitched long-term care policies as the prudent way for Americans to shoulder the cost of staying in nursing homes. But those same companies have found that long-term-care policies are squeezing their profits. Earnings for life insurers slid 11 percent in the most recent quarter, according to Moody's Investors Service, and long-term care was the chief culprit.

"Insurers that sell these products lose money on them," says Vincent Lui, a life-insurance analyst at Morningstar. "So they're raising prices and also trying to get out of the
